Food Price Rise Seen At Least Through Summer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising cost of food, already having a painful impact on the nation's consumer, is still going up and the government says there is no sign of any leveling off.

Agriculture Department economist Stephen J. Hiemstra made the grim assessment after it was disclosed Tuesday that wholesale food prices jumped another 1.2 per cent during June.

And when wholesale prices go up, the cost for putting food on the average citizen's table follows right up the spiral, Hiemstra indicated.

Set Hearing For Murder

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A prosecutor seeks to establish today that a 28-year-old ex-convict should be tried for the fatal shooting of a University of Michigan coed.

Washtenaw County Prosecutor William Delhey said two of the 10 witnesses he planned to call in a preliminary hearing would support the contention that Ernest Bishop Jr. shot Margaret Anne Phillips, 25, in her apartment Saturday night.

Miss Phillips was the seventh young woman, and the third University of Michigan coed, slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in 23 months.

Police Chief Walter Krasny, who said earlier there was a "50-50 chance" the three coed slayings were linked, disclosed Tuesday police were investigating the possibility that the same killer took the life of a fourth girl.

The girl was Maralynn Skelton, 16, a high school dropout from nearby Romulus, Mich. The University of Michigan coeds, in addition to Miss Phillips, were Jane Louise Mixer, 23, and Alice Kalom, 21.

Highway Chief Defends Project

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Highway Director P. E. Masheter said today that Cleveland would have faced the largest traffic bottleneck in Ohio had Interstate 71 not been opened to traffic as soon as possible.

The director issued the statement in reply to what he said were news stories criticizing a project near the Jones-Laughlin plant in Cleveland. Sinking piers complicated the project.

He said answering the needs of Cleveland and pressures from individuals, business and news media meant that the section had to be expedited and opened to traffic in 1968 or wait until 1971 at which time costs would have soared upwards 40 per cent.

State Pay Hike Dying; Workers May Walk Out

Shaw Blames Union 'Greed' For Situation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A strike has been threatened following a warning by powerful Senate Finance Committee Chairman Robert R. Shaw that a proposed pay raise for state employees is doomed to die in the Ohio Legislature.

"The statement of Shaw that the salary bill is dead leaves state workers with the feeling there is no alternative but to take drastic action," said Al Bilik, head of the State Employees Union.

"The only action a labor union knows is the picket line and going to the streets," Bilik added following a Finance Committee meeting Tuesday night.

Within minutes after the meeting adjourned, Bilik threatened to call a strike by his 6,000 union members if the pay increase bill doesn't pass the Senate within 10 days.

The situation, however, remained unclear.

Although Shaw contended the bill is dead, one committee member does not.

"I do not think this legislature has the guts to leave the Statehouse without giving a pay raise to state employees," said Sen. Robin T. Turner, R-14 Marion.

Shaw, a Columbus Republican stormed out of the committee hearing after the bill was amended to provide higher raises than originally planned.

Ohio Storm Cleanup Continues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Only five boats and a rubber life raft still were listed as missing today in the aftermath of the July 4 thundersstorms that swept northern Ohio and left at least 34 persons dead and millions of dollars in damage in its wake.

The Coast Guard said it will take a week or two to have all reports of possible missing persons confirmed or denied.

In a letter Tuesday to President Nixon, Gov. James A. Rhodes estimated damage to 23 storm-torn counties at $30 million.

"This information is strictly preliminary and subject to amendment both as to counties affected and amount of property damage and will be revised as more complete information becomes available," Rhodes wrote.

National Weather Bureau officials met in Cleveland Tuesday to discuss confusion concerning the dissemination of storm warning information to police and news media.

Since many radio stations do not receive the Civil Defense band directly, they rely on WKYC for weather information. Howard Spiller, WKYC engineer said that station's Emergency not activated until confirming information comes from the Weather Bureau.

There is a breakdown in EBS," Spiller said. "We don't throw the switch on the word 'watch'. We are not anxious to panic, that's why we demand Weather Bureau authority for a watch or tornado warning to activate EBS for a wider audience or area."

Samuel Grimm Jr., emergency warning sections of the Environmental Science Services Administration (Weather Bureau), said the problem was technical and that "no other city has a system requiring 'authority' after the bureau releases storm warnings."

But William Connell, Humphrey chief political aide, doubts it and says he recommended against making the alleged intrigue a public issue.

"I thought we were on the way, anyway, and that we might get a backlash from it," says Connell.

White reports in his recently published book the Johnson Administration intercepted messages from Anna Chan Chen-nault, a Nixon supporter, undertaking to sabotage the Paris agreement preceding the U.S.

Reds, U.S. Soldiers Are Slain

First GIs Home, Sleep In Peace

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — More than 800 American soldiers, some of them old beyond their years, slept under quiet skies for the first time in months, home from the war in Vietnam.

The vanguard of 25,000 servicemen President Nixon is withdrawing from Vietnam flew into McCord Air Force Base near here Tuesday.

"It's a wonderful feeling," said their commander, Lt. Col. Peter B. Petersen of Arlington, Va.

"I hope they bring them all out," said Elesto Williams, 23, Houston, Tex.

Their first night at this Army post was a far cry from their last night in Saigon, where helicopter gunships hovered on the horizon to keep the Viet Cong from spoiling their exit.

When the first group of 94 veterans, most of them in their early 20s, stepped from their C141 transport plane, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army Chief of Staff, told them they would find themselves "more mature, more dedicated to the service of others, more compassionate, more responsible, more realistic and more practical" than their contemporaries.

Their reaction was mixed.

"I'm going to go home and cut the grass," said Sgt. Jerome

DeBolt, 38, of Titusville, Pa.

"I'm going out and raise hell," said Dave Schutte, 20, of Quincy, Ill.

"I'm going to be a bum during my leave," said Sgt. Kenneth Reynolds, 22, of Black Duck, Minn.

"I want to get home to my girl," said Michael Santoro, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Of the 814 troops, 776 are enlisted men and 38 are officers. Of the enlisted men, 118 are being released from active duty and 658 are being reassigned. Sixteen officers will be reassigned and 22 will be released from active duty.

The men go through the red tape of military processing today and practice for a mile-long welcoming parade in Seattle Thursday. Most weren't too happy about the parade.

"We're all pretty tired and really not too enthusiastic," said 1st Lt. Donald Sweeney, Milford, Conn.

The men came home under the banner of the Army's 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry, 9th Infantry Division, but only 138 of them actually fought with the division.

The others were men from other outfits who had almost finished their year's tour of duty in Vietnam or were due for discharge from the Army.

End Of Lull May Be Near, Officials Say

SAIGON (AP) — American paratroopers walked into a Viet Cong ambush 50 miles south of Da Nang and lost nine men killed and seven wounded in a day-long battle that followed, U.S. headquarters reported today.

The ambush occurred shortly after noon Tuesday. A spokesman said about 150 Viet Cong deeply entrenched in bunkers near a jungle trail waited for a detachment of the 101st Airborne Division to walk into the "kill zone," then opened fire with machine guns and rifles.

"The enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire was returned immediately by the troopers, who were supported by an Air Force gunship, artillery and tactical air strikes," said the spokesman. He added that contact continued for about seven hours until nightfall.

Only two bodies of Viet Cong soldiers were found.

Elsewhere, light rocket attacks persisted and the U.S. Command reported 77 enemy troops were slain in eight small fights from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone. U.S. casualties were one killed and six wounded.

Spokesmen said the actions were not significant enough to be considered a break in the Vietnam war's current three-week lull. But they reported movement of enemy troops in small groups, similar to the pattern that ended similar lulls in February, May and June.

"One of the indicators in the past of increased enemy activity is when he starts to move in small groups," said the U.S. Command spokesman. "Prior to a very active enemy period... you run into him and make more contact."

He said it is too soon to tell if the enemy is gearing for another series of heavy attacks, but noted the enemy seems to be "advertising he will have a series of highpoints."

The U.S. Command reported the loss of two more helicopters to enemy ground fire Tuesday — an Army UH-1 downed 16 miles northwest of Saigon, killing the four Americans aboard and a Marine chopper downed 25 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one American and wounding three.

The losses raised to 2,832 the number of American helicopters lost in the war.

Headquarters said 14 rocket and mortar attacks hit allied bases and towns, including Saigon, overnight. Only four of them caused light casualties or damage at South Vietnamese installations. Casualties were reported as light.

Drop In U.S. Battle Deaths Tied To Red Cut In Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. battle deaths in Vietnam dropped last week to the lowest level since late April, giving apparent support to President Nixon's position that casualties rise and fall with the level of enemy attacks.

Although official figures are not yet final, sources say the toll for the week ending July 4 probably will be down generally close to the 163 Americans killed in action in the week ending April 26, the last time there was a lull in the fighting.

The cause of U.S. casualties has been a matter of growing controversy, with some critics contending U.S. battlefield initiatives bring about high losses.

Nixon told a news conference June 19, "Our casualties are in direct ratio to the level of enemy attacks."

Insisting U.S. forces have not escalated their operations, the President said "We have only responded to what the enemy has done."

Strategists still are puzzling over the significance of the lack of enemy ground operations.

The last lull continued about two weeks before enemy assaults swung upward abruptly in mid-May, bringing U.S. combat killed to 430 in the week ending May 17.

The peak week for 1969 saw 453 names added to the killed in action roster in the final week of February, and the enemy's post-Tet offensive. This followed immediately a lull which carried U.S. battle deaths down to 164 in the week ending February 22.

Thus, at the low point of two previous lulls in enemy attacks this year, American battle deaths settled down to about 163-164, and indications are that roughly this happened again in late June-early July.

The six-month toll in 1969 stands close to 6,500—about 3,000 fewer than the first six months of 1968, which included the great enemy Tet offensive.

Since then, the enemy and the United States have pursued "talk and fight" strategies.

In the 14 months since the Paris peace talks got going, about 14,000 American servicemen have died in combat.

Misunderstood Message Said Cause Of Ship Tragedy

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Statements by a young deck officer of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans indicated today misunderstanding of a crucial message led to the collision with the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne. Seventy-five American seamen perished.

The unspoken statements, made by Lt. (j.g.) Ronald Ramsey just hours after the June 3 collision, were read today before a U.S.-Australian inquiry board studying the cause of the crash. Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., was officer of the deck in charge of the Evans at the time of the accident.

Ramsey's statements said he thought the Melbourne messaged a few minutes before the crash that she was taking a course of 160 degrees, which would have been a left turn, and he maneuvered the Evans accordingly.

But the Melbourne's commander, who sent the message, and officers aboard nearby ships who heard it said the message simply stated the carrier's course as 260 degrees. The ships subsequently collided while trying to avoid each other.

Ramsey said there was panic and confusion on the bridge of the Evans in the final moments before impact. He said his junior deck officer, Lt. (j.g.) James A. Hopson, who was giving the steering orders, appeared quite panicked. Ramsey added he did not know if the ship's helmsman stayed at the wheel.

His statements indicated the destroyer was not on a wrong basic course before the collision as Hopson had testified.

Hopson, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., told the board the six-shin formation was maneuvering from a basic course of 185 degrees. Other witnesses have said the basic course was 205.

Ramsey's account generally agreed with that or varied so slightly that Navy officials said it would not have been crucial.

He was invited but did not appear at the hearing today. After the board warned him he was suspected of negligence leading to the collision, he refused to testify to protect his constitutional rights. Hopson also was warned he was suspected of negligence.

Storm Loss Figured At $70 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Total damage from the July fourth holiday weekend storms which raked Northern Ohio could surpass the $70 million mark, authorities said today.

Governor Rhodes, in a letter to President Nixon Tuesday asking for federal disaster assistance for the state, estimated damage to public and private property at $30 million.

John McElroy, Rhodes' chief aide, said today that figure, which was arrived at in a hurried initial survey by state officials, does not include damage to crops, which is not reimbursable under the federal disaster program.

McElroy added that the $30 million figure may be revised upward as more detailed surveys are conducted by the state.

Ohio Farm Bureau President Robert Summer placed the damage estimate to crops at upwards of $40 million.

Sam Cashman, Farm Bureau vice-president said the $40 million damage figure was a conservative one, adding that the storms would affect farmer income for "years to come."

Cashman said farmers in the flooded areas have yet to determine how much of this year's output has been reduced by flood waters, which inundated thousands of acres. He said crop yields will be reduced on the flooded fields in proportion to how long the plants were under water. Farmers can expect little or no output from fields submerged more than 24 hours.

Surtax-Reform Link Certain

Might Delay Bill Until Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders today appeared to have the votes in the Senate Finance Committee to overcome presidential objections and tie tax reform to extension of the income surtax.

If the two issues are intertwined, final congressional action on the surtax could be delayed until fall. President Nixon has said quick action on the surtax alone is necessary to his anti-inflation fight.

The committee continued its hearing today to extend the surtax until next June 30 by calling in several witnesses who oppose repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit, which was one tax reform the House did attach when it approved the continuation.

Of the 10 Democrats on the committee, only Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota had said he might be willing to support quick action on the surtax bill and leave tax reform until a second measure.

But the other nine Democrats seemed ready to follow the strategy of their Senate leaders.

This would mean a 9-8 margin for taking up reform along with the surtax extension, assuming that all seven Republican committee members support the administration position.

The senior Republican on the panel, John J. Williams of Delaware, has a number of reform amendments he intends to rush either on the surtax legislation or a second measure. He said he has not decided which strategy to follow.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic Whip Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and many other Democrats are demanding changes in the tax system to insure that everyone pays his fair share before they will be willing to accept a continuance of the surtax.

High Court Voids Rulings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A city has an obligation to keep streets and highways free from nuisances such as non-functioning traffic signals the Ohio Supreme Court ruled today.

The court reversed two lower court decisions and sent back to Richland County Common Pleas court three cases against the city of Mansfield.

All stemming from an accident at East 5th and Adams Streets in Mansfield August 22, 1964. Two cars collided at a malfunctioning traffic light. One driver, Alvin H. Fankhauser was killed. Robert A. Dickey of Fremont, passenger in a car driven by Dennis L. Lefebvre of Fremont was injured.

Frankhauser's widow and two Fremont men brought suit against the city but the actions were dismissed by Common Pleas Court and the decision upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The high court noted that the city knew of the traffic light's condition and said the situation constituted a nuisance that is properly determined by a jury under proper instructions.

The court reversed another Court of Appeals decision and affirmed a Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury verdict that awarded $20,000 to a hospital patient who fell from her bed.

3 More Ohioans Die In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Tuesday that three more Ohioans have died in Vietnam.

Marine Lance Cpl. Leon V. Parker of Hamilton was listed as killed in action.

Army Spec. 4 Thomas J. Schneider of Maple Heights was listed as having died not as a result of hostile action.

Army Sgt. Mark J. DeFrango of Kent was changed from the list of missing to killed in action.

Say Nixon Backer Tried To End Peace Talks

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could Hubert H. Humphrey have changed the course of the 1968 presidential campaign by disclosing information that a Richard M. Nixon supporter tried to sabotage preliminary Vietnam peace talks?

Author Theodore H. White speculates in his book "The Making of a President 1968" that Humphrey might have won the election if he had ballyhooed the story.

But William Connell, Humphrey chief political aide, doubts it and says he recommended against making the alleged intrigue a public issue.

"I thought we were on the way, anyway, and that we might get a backlash from it," says Connell.

White reports in his recently published book the Johnson Administration intercepted messages from Anna Chan Chen-nault, a Nixon supporter, undertaking to sabotage the Paris agreement preceding the U.S.

bombing halt and peace negotiations.

But, White reports, Humphrey refused to air the story despite urgings from some in his campaign staff.

When Nixon aides learned of the activities of the Chinese-born Mrs. Chennault, White says, there was "fury and dismay" and the feeling that "if they lost the election, Mrs. Chennault might have lost it for them."

When asked for comment Mrs. Chennault's secretary in Washington said Mrs. Chennault was in Asia.

Mrs. Chennault, widow of the wartime hero Gen. Claire Chennault and now an American citizen, had raised funds for the Nixon campaign and was chairman or co-chairman of several Nixon citizens committees.

She learned by gossip, rumor and speculation of the October halt, White says, and "she had undertaken most energetically to sabotage them."

He adds: "In contact with the Formosan, the South Korean and the South Vietnamese governments she had begun early, by cable and telephone, to mobilize their resistance to the agreement apparently implying, as he went, that she spoke for the Nixon campaign."

But, White continues, her communications with Asia were tapped by the U.S. government and turned over to Johnson.

Food Price Rise Seen At Least Through Summer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising cost of food, already having a painful impact on the nation's consumer, is still going up and the government says there is no sign of any leveling off.

Agriculture Department economist Stephen J. Hiemstra made the grim assessment after it was disclosed Tuesday that wholesale food prices jumped another 1.2 per cent during June.

And when wholesale prices go up, the cost for putting food on the average citizen's table follows right up the spiral, Hiemstra indicated.

"There's not anything that we can see to indicate a drop or a leveling off," he said.

Due entirely to the jump in food costs, the government's Wholesale Price Index climbed four-tenths of one per cent in June to 113.2.

Continuing to lead the way in the rising food prices is the cost of meat, particularly beef. Hiemstra said currently high farm prices for beef, the most popular meat, are expected to continue their momentum for most of the summer at least.

The Labor Department said Tuesday wholesale prices for processed meat, poultry and fish jumped 4.5 per cent in June, leading all other food items.

Calling meat a significant factor in consumer food spending, Hiemstra said that it accounts for 25 to 30 per cent of the average grocery bill.

Consumers as an average spend about 17.2 cents of their take-home dollar on food. Retail meat prices have been rising steadily while livestock prices paid to farmers have gone up over the months. The wholesale price of livestock went up 6 per cent in June, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Despite efforts of the Nixon administration to discourage inflation, the impact of the food price spiral is more than obvious to the consumer.

As an example, the January index for beef and pork was 118.6 which means consumers paid $11.86 for meat which cost $10 in the 1957-58 period upon which the index is based. In May the same meat cost $12.34.

Sen. Sam Ervin Fights Renewal Of Rights Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., a loser four years ago in the Southern fight against a historic voting rights law, said today the act was unconstitutional and regressive and should not be extended.

The North Carolina Democrat's contention was challenged by Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., and NAACP official Clarence Mitchell, who said extension of the 1965 law is necessary to preserve voting rights gained by southern blacks.

The positions were taken in statements prepared for hearings opened today by the subcommittee on constitutional rights, headed by Ervin.

In attacking the 1965 act, Ervin also said he doesn't see any need for a substitute proposed by President Nixon, although the senator said the administration bill is less offensive than the older measure.

Drop In U.S. Battle Deaths Tied To Red Cut In Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. battle deaths in Vietnam dropped last week to the lowest level since late April, giving apparent support to President Nixon's position that casualties rise and fall with the level of enemy attacks.

Although official figures are not yet final, sources say the toll for the week ending July 4 probably will be down generally close to the 163 Americans killed in action in the week ending April 26, the last time there was a lull in the fighting.

The cause of U.S. casualties has been a matter of growing controversy, with some critics contending U.S. battlefield initiatives bring about high losses.

Nixon told a news conference June 19, "Our casualties are in direct ratio to the level of enemy attacks."

Insisting U.S. forces have not escalated their operations, the President said "We have only responded to what the enemy has done."

Strategists still are puzzling over the significance of the lack of enemy ground operations. The last lull continued about two weeks before enemy assaults swung upward abruptly in mid-May, bringing U.S. combat killed to 430 in the week ending May 17.

The peak week for 1969 saw 453 names added to the killed in action roster in the final week of February, and the enemy's post-Tet offensive. This followed immediately a lull which carried U.S. battle deaths down to 164 in the week ending February 22.

Thus, at the low point of two previous lulls in enemy attacks this year, American battle deaths settled down to about 163-164, and indications are that roughly this happened again in late June-early July.

The six-month toll in 1969 stands close to 6,500—about 3,000 fewer than the first six months of 1968, which included the great enemy Tet offensive.

Since then, the enemy and the United States have pursued "talk and fight" strategies. In the 14 months since the Paris peace talks got going, about 14,000 American servicemen have died in combat.

Misunderstood Message Said Cause Of Ship Tragedy

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Statements by a young deck officer of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans indicated today misunderstanding of a crucial message led to the collision with the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne. Seventy-five American seamen perished.

The unsworn statements, made by Lt. (j.g.) Ronald Ramsey just hours after the June 3 collision, were read today before a U.S.-Australian inquiry board studying the cause of the crash. Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., was officer of the deck in charge of the Evans at the time of the accident.

Ramsey's statements said he thought the Melbourne message a few minutes before the crash that she was taking a course of 160 degrees, which would have been a left turn, and he maneuvered the Evans accordingly.

But the Melbourne's commander, who sent the message, and officers aboard nearby ships who heard it said the message simply stated the carrier's course as 260 degrees. The ships subsequently collided while trying to avoid each other.

Ramsey said there was panic and confusion on the bridge of the Evans in the final moments before impact. He said his junior deck officer, Lt. (j.g.) James A. Hopson, who was giving the steering orders, appeared quite panicked. Ramsey added he did not know if the ship's helmsman stayed at the wheel.

His statements indicated the destroyer was not on a wrong basic course before the collision as Hopson had testified.

Hopson, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., told the board the six-ship formation was maneuvering from a basic course of 185 degrees. Other witnesses have said the basic course was 205. Ramsey's account generally agreed with that or varied so slightly that Navy officials said it would not have been crucial.

He was invited but did not appear at the hearing today. After the board warned him he was suspected of negligence leading to the collision, he refused to testify to protect his constitutional rights. Hopson also was warned he was suspected of negligence.

Storm Loss Figured At $70 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Total damage from the July fourth holiday weekend storms which raked Northern Ohio could surpass the $70 million mark, authorities said today.

Governor Rhodes, in a letter to President Nixon Tuesday asking for federal disaster assistance for the state, estimated damage to public and private property at $30 million.

John McElroy, Rhodes' chief aide, said today that figure, which was arrived at in a hurried initial survey by state officials, does not include damage to crops, which is not reimbursable under the federal disaster program.

McElroy added that the $30 million figure may be revised upward as more detailed surveys are conducted by the state.

Ohio Farm Bureau President Robert Summer placed the damage estimate to crops at upwards of $40 million.

Sam Cashman, Farm Bureau vice-president said the $40 million damage figure was a conservative one, adding that the storms would affect far more income for "years to come."

Cashman said farmers in the flooded areas have yet to determine how much of this year's output has been reduced by flood waters, which inundated thousands of acres. He said crop yields will be reduced on the flooded fields in proportion to how long the plants were under water. Farmers can expect little or no output from fields submerged more than 24 hours.

Surtax-Reform Link Certain

Might Delay Bill Until Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders today appeared to have the votes in the Senate Finance Committee to overcome presidential objections and tie tax reform to extension of the income surtax.

If the two issues are intertwined, final congressional action on the surtax could be delayed until fall, President Nixon has said quick action on the surtax alone is necessary to his anti-inflation fight.

The committee continued its hearing today to extend the surtax until next June 30 by calling in several witnesses who oppose repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit, which was one tax reform the House did attach when it approved the continuation.

Of the 10 Democrats on the committee, only Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota had said he might be willing to support quick action on the surtax bill and leave tax reform until a second measure.

But the other nine Democrats seemed ready to follow the strategy of their Senate leaders. This would mean a 9-8 margin for taking up reform along with the surtax extension, assuming that all seven Republican committee members support the administration position.

The senior Republican on the panel, John J. Williams of Delaware, has a number of reform amendments he intends to push either on the surtax legislation or a second measure. He said he has not decided which strategy to follow.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic Whip Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and many other Democrats are demanding changes in the tax system to insure that everyone pays his fair share before they will be willing to accept a continuance of the surtax.

THE premium books for the 24th Pickaway County Fair are now available. The books have been completely revised and corrected according to Roger Bowers, secretary of the Agricultural Society.

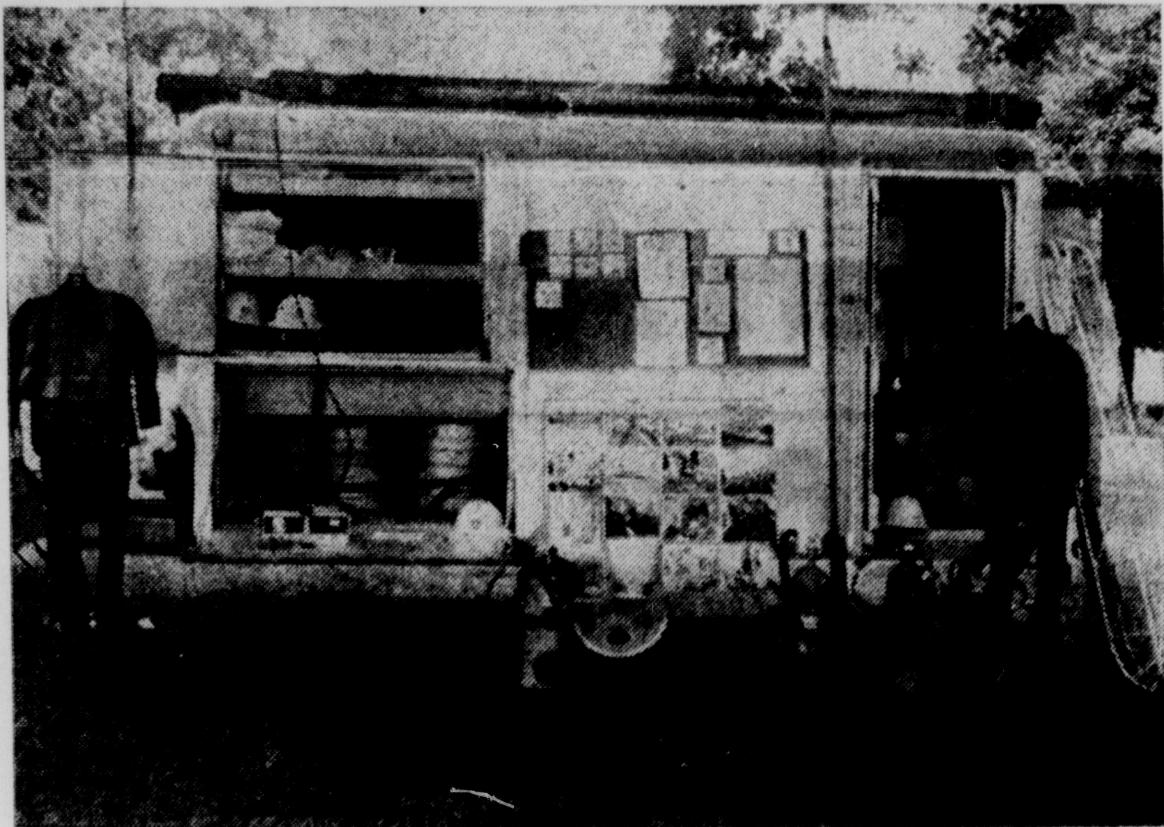

The Fair this year is July 27, 28, 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

Persons planning to work in food booths at the fair must have a TB skin test or X-ray.

It's a free fair again this year. A nominal fee will be charged for parking on the fairgrounds, but there is no gate admission charge.

3 More Ohioans Die In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Tuesday that three more Ohioans have died in Vietnam.

PREPARED — The Pickaway County React and Rescue Unit are prepared for any disaster as they display part of their equipment in their rescue truck. The local unit is beginning a membership drive to increase its enrollment. Anyone 21 or over can join by attending the July 22 meet at 8 p. m. at the Red Cross building.

Bipartisan ABM Group Sets Compromise; Expect Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of a bipartisan effort to limit the administration's Safeguard program to research while prohibiting any antimissile deployment or acquisition of sites, say they expect a lengthy debate but are confident of victory.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., prepared an amendment to block the Safeguard proposal for introduction today, as debate on the entire antimissile missile-ABM-program entered its second day.

"It is unlikely that there would be any precipitate action," Hart told reporters. Cooper said "I have always thought that we would have a majority. I still do."

Their amendment would not cut any of the $759.1 million in funds earmarked for Safeguard but would limit the use to research, development, testing and evaluation, plus "normal procurement incident thereto," mainly at the Kwajalein Islands test facility.

In addition, it would bar use of any funds—including that carried over from previous years—for deployment of an ABM system or for purchase of any sites for such a system.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, opened the long-awaited ABM debate Tuesday after predicting the Senate would uphold his committee in approving the Safeguard proposal.

"I think the position of the President of the United States is a tremendous factor," Stennis told reporters.

Stennis had hoped to hold a secret Senate session to lay out details of potential Soviet threats to the nation's security. But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., balked at the chairman's idea of limiting the session to non-ABM matters.

John Hardin Resigns Fayette School Post

John B. Hardin, superintendent of Fayette County Schools since August 1, 1964 submitted his resignation to the County Board of Education Monday night.

Before going to Washington Court House, Hardin was superintendent of Ashville-Harrison School District for eight years. Prior to that he served as Pickaway Township executive head for eight years, teacher-coach at Hannibal in Monroe County for three years and teacher-coach at Bartlett in Washington County for three years.

He has accepted the superintendency of the Liberty-Union district of Fairfield County with an increase of salary of $1,500 per annum.

The Fayette County Board of Education accepted Hardin's resignation by a 3-2 vote.

HARDIN said that the situation in the Miami Trace District has reached the point that he personally finds it "unbearable."

The superintendent, 57, will accept his new post in Baltimore August 1.

Hardin served three years as Washington High School principal starting in 1958, had completed three years as superintendent of the Sabina Local School District when he succeeded Roger Hoffman in the Fayette County Post.

The school administrator holds a bachelor of science degree from Ohio University, a master of education degree from Ohio State University and has completed additional work in administration at OSU. He has professional certificates in both education and administration.

He is a member of the National Association of School Administrators, the National Education Association, and the Ohio Education Association. He is also a member of Rotary International, the Aircraft Owners and Flyers Association, the Blue Lodge of Masonry and the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Gladys Swarthout, mezzo soprano hailed by critics as the "best female singer in the opera world" during the 1930s, died here Monday of a heart attack, it was reported today. She was 65.

Miss Swarthout had suffered from heart trouble for many years and underwent heart surgery twice in Houston, Tex.

Say Nixon . . .

But two days later when 11 South Vietnamese senators expressed their support of Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu repudiated the Paris agreement "The President's wrath was lit," White says and he adds:

"By Saturday he had accused Sen. Everett Dirksen of a Republican plot to sabotage peace (which Dirksen, presumably, hastened to relay to Nixon headquarters); and by Sunday, Johnson was in direct and bitter telephonic contact with Richard Nixon in Los Angeles."

White says, "What could have been made of an open charge that the Nixon leaders were saboteurs of the peace one cannot guess; how quickly it might, if aired, have brought the last 48 hours of the American campaign to squalor is a matter of speculation."

NLRB Rules In Favor Of Union

The National Labor Relations board has ruled in favor of the Glass Bottle Blowers Assn in a dispute over a union election at the Jacqueline-Cochran Co., Moosic, Pa., it was announced by John Wroblewski, an official of the GBBA.

Wroblewski said he started a campaign to organize the employees of the firm in June of 1968. An election held Oct. 4 to bring the union into the plant lost by a substantial majority.

Wroblewski filed for a new election with the National Labor Relations Board, charging the company promised benefits and promotions and coerced employees into opposing the union.

The election was set aside and a new election was ordered Dec. 20, which the GBBA won. Objections filed by the company against GBBA were overruled by the regional NLRB director of Philadelphia and the national board at Washington.

Wroblewski, who lives in Cleveland is a national representative of GBBA. The union has approximately 80,000 members and is affiliated with AFL-CIO.

Ohio Senate Committees Study Education-Tax Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio Senate committees begin hearings today on the $1.85 billion education-tax bill that passed the House last week.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee, headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, kicks off hearings on the tax section of the bill after today's session.

Education Committee Chairman Oakley C. Collins, R-18 Ironton, takes up the education parts of the bill tonight.

Maloney said it "will be at least three weeks" before the bill goes to the floor.

In committee action Tuesday, the Senate Elections Commerce and Labor Committee recommended for passage a controversial bill to permit local option elections on the sale of liquor on Sunday.

The bill authorizes the sale of liquor on Sunday between 1 p.m. and midnight if approved by a vote of the people in local areas. Dry areas would not be allowed to vote on it.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate reconsidered and passed a bill to give Ohioans four three-day weekends a year.

The measure was adopted earlier by the House, but in a surprise move Monday was defeated in the Senate 14-12. Seventeen votes are needed for passage.

The Senate voted 23-6 Tuesday to reconsider the bill, then passed it 20-9. It now goes to Gov. James A. Rhodes for his signature.

Under the bill, Washington's birthday observance would be changed from Feb. 22 to the third Monday in February and the holiday would be changed to Washington-Lincoln birthday. Lincoln's birthday would be eliminated as a state holiday. Memorial Day would be changed from May 30 to the last Monday in May, Columbus Day from Oct. 12 to the second Monday in October and Veterans' Day from Nov. 11 to the fourth Monday in November. The bill makes Ohio holidays conform with recently established federal holidays that go into effect Jan. 1, 1971.

Specialists Inspect Rocket As Apollo Countdown Nears

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Crews of specialists painstakingly inspected the Saturn 5 rocket and Apollo 11 spaceship today with only hours remaining before the start of the countdown for the moon-landing mission launch.

Engineers and technicians probed the 36-story-tall combination both inside and out, searching for possible flaws that could delay or ruin the $350 million flight.

The lengthy countdown is to start at 8 p.m. EDT Thursday, aiming for a liftoff next Wednesday at 9:32 a.m.

The three astronauts who will make the momentous journey, Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins, planned several more hours today in the command ship trainer, practicing the critical launching phase and what they would do in various emergency situations.

Walter J. Kapryan, deputy director of launch operations, said:

"We are moving ahead toward launch with confidence, based on experience—but not with overconfidence."

Inside the cavernous tanks of the rocket, crews work in a maze of pumps, valves, fuel lines, wiring and electronic devices. They move carefully on special walkways and access platforms. Conspicuous red tags identify non-flight equipment which must be removed before blastoff.

Security and quality control inspection is tight, said Robert G. Abbott, who heads the Saturn 5 quality surveillance branch.

"A man must have the right badges and the right reasons to get in any of the three stages," he said.

"Strict records are maintained on all tools used by anyone working inside the rocket. In some cases we require that tools be tethered. Anything that goes inside, that does not fly, must come out again."

H. Knipmeyer Assigned To Local Plant

H. E. KNIPMEYER

H. E. Knipmeyer was recently transferred to the Circleville Du Pont plant as research manager in the Research and Development laboratory from the Chestnut Run Laboratory in Wilmington, Del.

He joined Du Pont in 1963 as a research chemist at the experimental station in Wilmington in the Chemical and Central Research departments. He was later transferred to the film department as a technical investigator in the research division.

In 1961 he was sent to Buffalo where he was later made a staff scientist at the Yerkes Research and Development Laboratory, a position he held until 1964 when he returned to Wilmington as a technical representative at the Chestnut Run Laboratory. In 1965, he was made group manager of the facility.

Knipmeyer received a B.S. in Chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a Ph. D. in Organic Chemistry at the University of Illinois.

He and his wife, Mary Jane, are the parents of two sets of twins, ages 12 and 9. They reside at 343 Meadow Lane in Circleville.

Dr. Knipmeyer is a Life Master bridge player, Little League baseball coach and Boy Scout troop committeeman. Mrs. Knipmeyer is also active in scouting where she serves as a Girl Scout Leader.

They are members of Unitarian Church.

PREPARED — The Pickaway County React and Rescue Unit are prepared for any disaster as they display part of their equipment in their rescue truck. The local unit is beginning a membership drive to increase its enrollment. Anyone 21 or over can join by attending the July 22 meet at 8 p. m. at the Red Cross building.

Bipartisan ABM Group Sets Compromise; Expect Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of a bipartisan effort to limit the administration's Safeguard program to research while prohibiting any antimissile deployment or acquisition of sites, say they expect a lengthy debate but are confident of victory.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., prepared an amendment to block the Safeguard proposal for introduction today, as debate on the entire antimissile missile—ABM—program entered its second day.

"It is unlikely that there would be any precipitate action," Hart told reporters.

Cooper said "I have always thought that we would have a majority. I still do."

Their amendment would not cut any of the $759.1 million in funds earmarked for Safeguard but would limit the use to research, development, testing and evaluation, plus "normal procurement incident thereto," mainly at the Kwajalein Islands test facility.

In addition, it would bar use of any funds—including that carried over from previous years—for deployment of an ABM system or for purchase of any sites for such a system.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, opened the long-awaited ABM debate Tuesday after predicting the Senate would uphold his committee in approving the Safeguard proposal.

"I think the position of the President of the United States is a tremendous factor," Stennis told reporters.

Stennis had hoped to hold a secret Senate session to lay out details of potential Soviet threats to the nation's security. But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., balked at the chairman's idea of limiting the session to non-ABM matters.

John Hardin Resigns Fayette School Post

John B. Hardin, superintendent of Fayette County Schools since August 1, 1964 submitted his resignation to the County Board of Education Monday night.

Before going to Washington Court House, Hardin was superintendent of Ashville-Harrison School District for eight years. Prior to that he served as Pickaway Township executive head for eight years, teacher-coach at Hannibal in Monroe County for three years and teacher-coach at Bartlett in Washington County for three years.

He has accepted the superintendency of the Liberty-Union district of Fairfield County with an increase of salary of $1,500 per annum.

The Fayette County Board of Education accepted Hardin's resignation by a 3-2 vote.

HARDIN said that the situation in the Miami Trace District has reached the point that he personally finds it "unbearable."

The superintendent, 57, will accept his new post in Baltimore August 1.

Hardin served three years as Washington High School principal starting in 1958, had completed three years as superintendent of the Sabina Local School District when he succeeded Roger Hoffman in the Fayette County Post.

The school administrator holds a bachelor of science degree from Ohio University, a master of education degree from Ohio State University and has completed additional work in administration at OSU. He has professional certificates in both education and administration.

He is a member of the National Association of School Administrators, the National Education Association, and the Ohio Education Association. He is also a member of Rotary International, the Aircraft Owners and Flyers Association, the Blue Lodge of Masonry and the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Gladys Swarthout, Mezzo Soprano, Dies

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Gladys Swarthout, mezzo soprano hailed by critics as the "best female singer in the opera world" during the 1930s, died here Monday of a heart attack, it was reported today. She was 65.

Miss Swarthout had suffered from heart trouble for many years and underwent heart surgery twice in Houston, Tex.

Say Nixon . . .

But two days later when 11 South Vietnamese senators expressed their support of Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu repudiated the Paris agreement "The President's wrath was lit," White says and he adds:

"By Saturday he had accused Sen. Everett Dirksen of a Republican plot to sabotage peace (which Dirksen, presumably, hastened to relay to Nixon headquarters); and by Sunday, Johnson was in direct and bitter telephonic contact with Richard Nixon in Los Angeles."

White says, "What could have been made of an open charge that the Nixon leaders were saboteurs of the peace one cannot guess; how quickly it might, if aired, have brought the last 48 hours of the American campaign to squalor is a matter of speculation."

NLRB Rules In Favor Of Union

The National Labor Relations board has ruled in favor of the Glass Bottle Blowers Assn in a dispute over a union election at the Jacqueline-Cochran Co., Moosic, Pa., it was announced by John Wroblewski, an official of the GBBA.

Wroblewski said he started a campaign to organize the employees of the firm in June of 1968. An election held Oct. 4 to bring the union into the plant lost by a substantial majority.

Wroblewski filed for a new election with the National Labor Relations Board, charging the company promised benefits and promotions and coerced employees into opposing the union.

The election was set aside and a new election was ordered Dec. 20, which the GBBA won. Objections filed by the company against GBBA were overruled by the regional NLRB director of Philadelphia and the national board at Washington.

Wroblewski, who lives in Cleveland is a national representative of GBBA. The union has approximately 80,000 members and is affiliated with AFL-CIO.

2 Ohio Senate Committees Study Education-Tax Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio Senate committees begin hearings today on the $1.85 billion education - tax bill that passed the House last week.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee, headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, kicks off hearings on the tax section of the bill after today's session.

Education Committee Chairman Oakley C. Collins, R - 18 Ironton, takes up the education parts of the bill tonight.

Maloney said it "will be at least three weeks" before the bill goes to the floor.

In committee action Tuesday, the Senate Elections Commerce and Labor Committee recommended for passage a controversial bill to permit local option elections on the sale of liquor on Sunday.

The bill authorizes the sale of liquor on Sunday between 1 p.m. and midnight if approved by a vote of the people in local areas. Dry areas would not be allowed to vote on it.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate reconsidered and passed a bill to give Ohioans four three-day weekends a year.

The measure was adopted earlier by the House, but in a surprise move Monday was defeated in the Senate 14 - 12. Seventeen votes are needed for passage.

The Senate voted 23-6 Tuesday

State Pay Hike

(Continued from Page 1) In April, the administration's bill was introduced to provide $23.5 million in pay raises over the next two years. Since then, the bill was amended to raise the amount to $29.5 million to provide further increases for workers in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction. The bill was scheduled to be voted out of the Finance Committee Tuesday night. But Shaw abruptly adjourned the meeting without taking any action after a second amendment boosting the raises by an additional $8.5 million was approved.

What Killed Tshombe?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Despite the fact that an eleven-man team of French and Algerian doctors signed a statement that Moise Tshombe, the ex-premier of the Congo, had died from heart failure in his sleep in an Algerian jail, the Tshombe family lawyer in New York City, Pamfil Ripsanu, thinks there could be considerably more to the story than that. If he is right in his suspicions, Tshombe was done away with on the very eve of his removal from prison to a safe haven in South America.

The details of liberation had been all arranged. Tshombe was to have gone to Majorca, thus avoiding a perhaps contentious landing on the Spanish mainland, and then on to his ultimate Latin American destination. The money aspects involved in the release had been settled (Ripsanu scoffed at the story that ten million dollars in ransom had had to be paid). Tshombe, who was only 49, was reportedly more than happy that his long incarceration, after being kidnapped in mid-air over the Mediterranean, was about to end. He had written to his son in Lausanne, Switzerland, that he was in good health and had been well treated in prison. The son, forwarding news of New York City in a letter dated June 26, said "son morale serait bon" ("his morale will be good"). So it is hardly likely that Tshombe had been frightened into having a fatal heart attack. He had lived through many crises in his life, surmounting them with considerable aplomb and with no previous history of heart trouble. The suspicions, according to Mr. Ripsanu, thicken when one considers the fact which Joseph Mobutu, the present dictator of the Congo and Tshombe's bitter enemy, makes of anniversaries. Tshombe died on the eve of the anniversary of his kidnapping, which occurred on June 30, 1967. It was also the eve of the anniversary of the Congo's independence. Mobutu had originally had Tshombe's plane hijacked by a former French convict with the idea that his detention in Algeria would make him "as good as dead," thus leaving the Mobutu crowd in the Congo free to celebrate independence day without worry that their arch enemy might be plotting a return to power with the aid of white mercenaries. Mobutu thought he had Tshombe's extradition from Algeria all arranged for, but President Boumedienne crossed the Congo President up by overruling the decision of the Algerian Supreme Court. So, through two independence days, Mobutu still had to reckon with the possibility that Tshombe might some day be freed, possibly to plot a new return to power. The "heart failure" on the eve of a third independence day was just as effective as the execution which Mobutu had originally planned two years ago. The Tshombe family has asked for release of the body for an independent autopsy, but no answer has been received from President Boumedienne as of the moment of writing. If there is no release, it will only serve to heighten suspicions that Mobutu had managed to reach past Boumedienne into Tshombe's cell to rid himself of his only effective rival to Congolese power. Boumedienne would not necessarily be implicated in any death plot, for an important Kuwait diplomat had assured the Tshombe family that the Arab world had decided it had no interest in keeping Tshombe a prisoner or in otherwise harming him. There is a special reason for thinking that Mobutu might have acted out of desperation to do away with Tshombe on the eve of the ninth Congo independence anniversary celebration. For word had just reached the Congo capital of Kinshasha that Belgian-born Colonel Jean Schramme, former leader of the white mercenaries who had changed sides from time to time in Congo warfare, had turned up in Portuguese Angola. Schramme, after leading his mercenaries in 1967 over the border from the Congo into the small neighboring republic of Rwanda, had finally achieved his repatriation to Belgium with a reported promise never to return to the soil of Africa. He had obtained a passport in Belgium ostensibly to go to Brazil. His appearance in Angola at a time when Tshombe's release to South America was imminent would have been just the thing to scare the wits out of Mobutu. There is no reason to believe that Tshombe and Schramme had any contact with each other, or that any plotting was afoot. But Mobutu would have been scared anyway.

WHEN HEYWOOD BROWN set out to do an interview he didn't let his quarry get off too lightly. One testy, antagonistic senator tried to fob him off with "I have absolutely nothing to say." "Everybody knows that," agreed Brown. "Shall we get started with the interview?"

One of the most unfortunate typographical errors on record was perpetrated by none other than the famous author, Bret Harte. While editing a small Western newspaper in his salad days, his obit for one of the town's most respected ladies concluded, "She was distinguished for her charity." The proofs came back as "distinguished for her chastity." Harte, anxious to go fishing, didn't bother correcting the proof, but put a big question mark in the margin.

The final version of the obit—as printed in the entire edition—read, "Mrs. Gilligan, above all the ladies in this area, was distinguished for her chastity (?)."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A sixteen-year-old boy wrote, "I am all mixed up. My parents treat me like a baby and yet they sometimes ask me to behave like a man. Have parents forgotten what it is like to be my age?" I replied and have had several interesting letters indicating the importance of finding someone to talk to other than parents. That strange, invisible gap that everyone writes about is not greater now than it ever was between parents and children. I believe the gap is deliberately magnified because it makes a good copy. I believe, too, that it is deliberately magnified by the adolescent who flourishes when he can say "my parents do not understand me and do not give me complete freedom of expression."

It is true that the adolescent may temporarily be lost in his own conflicts and confusion and needs special understanding to find himself. This adolescent period is often a man's land, where he is trapped by differences in physical and emotional growth. Many of these children have the physical structure of an adult but still have vast areas of emotional growth to achieve before they become the total young adult.

It is interesting that a neighbor seems better able to speak to your own child about his problems. It is also true that parents can handle the problems of their neighbor's child in a way that they cannot handle their own.

If we inspect this idea, we will find we are far less impatient with other children than we are with our own. Children, too, more readily accept the advice of a neighbor because the sympathetic neighbor really seems to listen without impatience or irritability. Listening to the adolescent may be the key to clarifying his own problems as he talks them out. It is difficult to delve into the emotional problems of our own children while remaining impartial and unbiased.

To our own children, every conclusion reached becomes an order or a paternal command. The adolescent resents the fact that he is not given respect for his thinking and is considered to be child-like in his decisions. In some communities where the pediatrician, rather than the family physician, takes care of children, the adolescent stays with him long after he has outgrown the need for "baby treatment." He needs special medical, social, and psychological advice because he is in a unique phase of growth. Thus I have always felt that a special branch of medicine should be devoted to the needs of the adolescent. From the physical point of view, hormones are pouring into their blood streams to satisfy their need as they rapidly approach maturity.

The adolescent boy and girl are seeking hard to find their own identity, their own independence and are establishing opinions and attitudes that may be different from those of parents and teachers. I am overwhelmingly impressed with a sense of hope about the adolescent and young adult during my conversations with them in universities all over the country. When they attain a greater sense of maturity it is astonishing how often the morality and parental teachings come to the surface. During this difficult phase, the adolescent needs someone special to talk to. It cannot always be his parents.

An effort is being made to have the first Sunday after Labor Day to be observed as Grand Dad's Day. Why such a date—six days after Labor Day. To remind the old boy he's retired?

Grandpappy Jenkins also doesn't like the date. Says after Mother's Day in May and Dad's Day in June the family would be too broke to buy him a gift!

A New Jersey town, Swedesboro, has outlawed all hugging and kissing in public parks. Separate ordinances, no doubt?

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's consumer adviser, asked for a leaner hot dog than the one agreed on by the Department of Agriculture. The man at the next desk thinks she has a pretty fair chance of winning her case.

The D.A.'s proposed limit for fat in frankfurters was 33 per cent. It's a weighty subject.

The Business World

By DON BATTLE (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts are telling the man on the street that the economy will cool and inflation will slow, but the public is finding it difficult to believe.

It continues to feed inflation with a high rate of spending, according to latest figures.

The analysts point to such economic indicators as the Gross National Product—the total of all goods and services—and say that its annual rate of growth will level off and dip slightly for the remainder of the year, but will head upward in the mid to late 1970s.

In this year's first quarter, the GNP rose $16 billion to an annual rate of $903.4 billion, according to the U.S. Commerce Department. Monte Gordon, director of research for the brokerage firm of Bache & Co. predicts the rate will settle at $15 billion in the second quarter before dipping to about $13 billion in the third and fourth quarters, but will "turn up in the mid-1970s."

This leveling off is due to the government's efforts to slow inflationary prices by making money scarce. By braking credit, it is presumed that consumer spending, and then business spending, will slow down, causing prices to slide.

As of June, however, the consumer was buying everything else but the government's predictions for slowing inflation. Retail sales hit a record $29.4 billion in May, 1.5 per cent above the January level.

Wholesale prices rose three times as fast in May as they did in the month before, according to the June survey of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Wage increases in major labor contracts continued to outstrip, by a wide margin, the output of an average worker, thus adding sharply to business costs.

The public's urge now revolves around buying, borrowing and building to beat higher prices expected in the future. As for the stock market, analysts see the current drop in averages similar to the tight money situation of 1966. The market recovered nicely then and will recover now, they say.

The market, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average, has fallen about 10 per cent in the last six weeks, dropping about 100 points from its May 14 yearly high of 968.82.

Claude Lelouch

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With his close cropped hair and slight figure, Claude Lelouch looks as if he might be the proppy on a movie set. But when he starts commanding cast and crew, there is no doubt what he is: director.

Lelouch is directing a film called "Again, a Love Story," in Hollywood, of all places. Not in a studio, mind you, but all over town. I caught up with him one morning after an all-night shooting session.

The Frenchman was relaxed and articulate. He spoke mostly in French, claiming his English was not good enough.

Lelouch has been in love with film for most of his 37 years. At 10 he was making movies with his father's home camera. At 17 he toured the United States for his father's textile firm, making two short movies along the way. But his real training ground was television commercials.

"I used to make 300 commercials a year—one every day," he remarked. "It was a great way to learn how to use film; it taught me to have a lot of ideas."

"Now I have my own production company in Paris, and one of the divisions makes commercials—at least 200 a year. I don't make any myself any more; I employ young directors and I enjoy helping them learn. Before, new directors came out of short subjects. Now they learn their trade in commercials."

It was an auto commercial that contributed to Lelouch's great success, "A Man and a Woman." His lyrical photograph of a car in motion formed an important segment of the film.

Was he surprised by the success of "A Man and a Woman"? "But of course. It would have been impossible to predict what happened. The film I believe has already made $20 million throughout the world, including $6 million in America. I was the sole producer, and I controlled the rights everywhere except in the United States. I sold the rights here to Allied Artists so I could have the money to make it."

Lelouch followed with "Live for Life," a failure in this country. It contained an attack on American participation in the Vietnam war.

"Again, a Love Story" will take place across the United States, visiting such places as Las Vegas, Kansas, Utah, and New York City. But Lelouch insisted that he is not trying to portray America.

"What I will show is the view of America by two French people—a composer (Jean Paul Belmondo) and a girl (Annie Girardot) who are working on a movie company," said Lelouch. "A Frenchman cannot interpret America any more than an American can interpret France."

NEW YORK (AP) — "My accountant estimated my income last year would be $300,000 said Flip Wilson, 'but I actually earned $500,000."

"Now things are looking up. If I can have two more years like that, I'm going to move out of the poverty area."

The 34-year-old Negro performer, newest top star on the comedy scene, has spent most of his life in the poverty area. His present success is a tribute to a self-determination that would be a credit to any Horatio Alger hero.

Born Clerow Wilson—"I don't know why they hung that first name on me"—Flip is one of 24 children of a Newark handyman. In his childhood he lived in three foster homes.

"I quit school at 16 because I was ashamed that I had only a dime a day to spend for lunch," he recalled recently between shows at the Americana's Royal Box.

"I was a good student, and the other kids looked up to me. But I guess I kind of looked down on myself because I was so poor."

He then spent nearly four years in the Air Force, and won the nickname of Flip because of the humorous skill with which he delivered troop information talks.

He made the great decision of his life in 1954 when he was earning $40 a week as a bellhop and part-time clerk in a San Francisco hotel. One night, when a performer failed to appear for the hotel's show, Flip volunteered to fill in for him.

"The applause I got made me decide right then what I wanted to do the rest of my life," he said. "I wanted to make people laugh."

"I learned there is a theory among great comedians that it takes 15 years to develop a rounded, stand-up comic, and I decided I would do just that."

"Since there is no school for humor, I haunted the bookstores and read everything I could on the subject. I studied the routines of all the great comedians of the past in order to help find one of my own. I stayed up nights learning to write my own material."

Quick Reflexes Save Woman From Death

CINCINNATI (AP) — Quick reflexes apparently saved Blanche Albers, 63, from death here Monday in a truck-automobile accident.

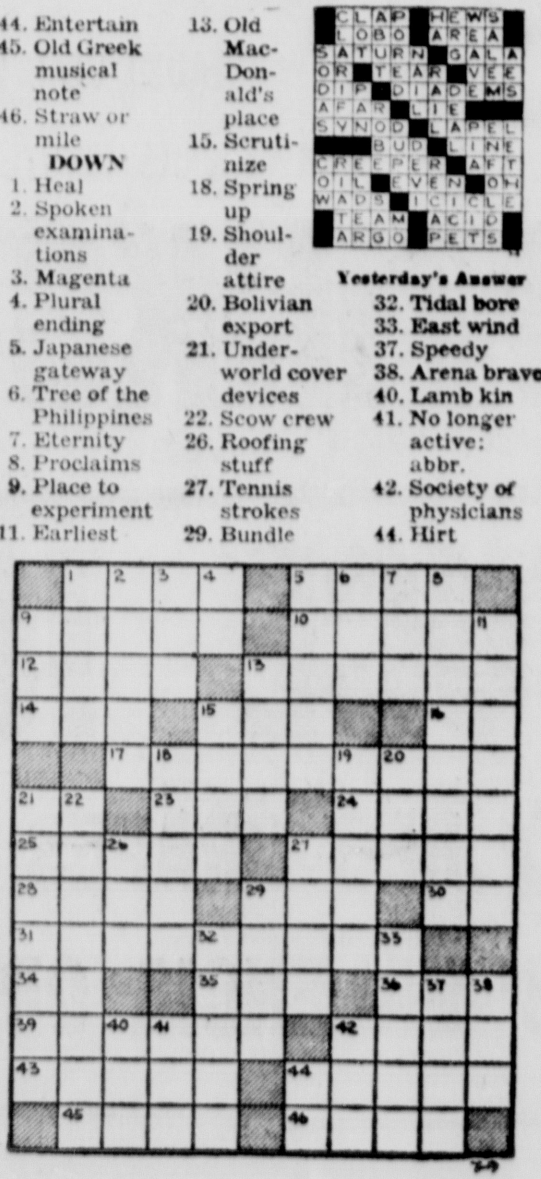

Mrs. Albers said she was standing on a street corner when she heard the screeching brakes of a truck trying to avoid hitting two automobiles at the intersection.

"I threw myself under a parked truck before the truck and two cars jumped the curb and landed where I had been standing," she said.

Police said Mrs. Albers would have been crushed if she had not acted so quickly. She received skinned knees and a cut hand. Three persons in the two cars involved also were injured.

What Killed Tshombe?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Despite the fact that an eleven-man team of French and Algerian doctors signed a statement that Moise Tshombe, the ex-premier of the Congo, had died from heart failure in his sleep in an Algerian jail, the Tshombe family lawyer in New York City, Pamfil Ripsanu, thinks there could be considerably more to the story than that. If he is right in his suspicions, Tshombe was done away with on the very eve of his removal from prison to a safe haven in South America.

The details of liberation had been all arranged. Tshombe was to have gone to Majorca, thus avoiding a perhaps contentious landing on the Spanish mainland, and then on to his ultimate Latin American destination. The money aspects involved in the release had been settled (Ripsanu scoffed at the story that ten million dollars in ransom had had to be paid). Tshombe, who was only 49, was reportedly more than happy that his long incarceration, after being kidnapped in mid-air over the Mediterranean, was about to end. He had written to his son in Lausanne, Switzerland, that he was in good health and had been well treated in prison. The son, forwarding news to New York City in a letter dated June 26, said "son morale se rait bon" ("his morale will be good"). So it is hardly likely that Tshombe had been frightened into having a fatal heart attack. He had lived through many crises in his life, surmounting them with considerable aplomb and with no previous history of heart trouble. The suspicions, according to Mr. Ripsanu, thicken when one considers the fetish which Joseph Mobutu, the present dictator of the Congo and Tshombe's bitter enemy, makes of anniversaries. Tshombe died on the eve of the anniversary of his kidnapping, which occurred on June 30, 1967. It was also the eve of the anniversary of the Congo's independence. Mobutu had originally had Tshombe's plane hijacked by a former French convict with the idea that his detention in Algeria would make him "as good as dead," thus leaving the Mobutu crowd in the Congo free to celebrate independence day without worry that their arch enemy might be plotting a return to power with the aid of white mercenaries.

Mobutu thought he had Tshombe's extradition from Algeria all arranged for, but President Boumedienne crossed the Congo President up by overruling the decision of the Algerian Supreme Court. So, through two independence days, Mobutu still had to reckon with the possibility that Tshombe might some day be freed, possibly to plot a new return to power. The "heart failure" on the eve of a third independence day was just as effective as the execution which Mobutu had originally planned two years ago.

The Tshombe family has asked for release of the body for an independent autopsy, but no answer has been received from President Boumedienne as of the moment of writing. If there is no release, it will only serve to heighten suspicions that Mobutu had managed to reach past Boumedienne into Tshombe's cell to rid himself of his only effective rival to Congolese power. Boumedienne would not necessarily be implicated in any death plot, for an important Kuwait diplomat had assured the Tshombe family that the Arab world had decided it had no interest in keeping Tshombe a prisoner or in otherwise harming him.

There is a special reason for thinking that Mobutu might have acted out of desperation to do away with Tshombe on the eve of the ninth Congo independence anniversary celebration. For word had just reached the Congo capital of Kinshasa that Belgian-born Colonel Jean Schramme, former leader of the white mercenaries who had changed sides from time to time in Congo warfare, had turned up in Portuguese

Angola. Schramme, after leading his mercenaries in 1967 over the border from the Congo into the small neighboring republic of Rwanda, had finally achieved his repatriation to Belgium with a reported promise never to return to the soil of Africa. He had obtained a passport in Belgium ostensibly to go to Brazil. His appearance in Angola at a time when Tshombe's release to South America was imminent would have been just the thing to scare the wits out of Mobutu. There is no reason to believe that Tshombe and Schramme had any contact with each other, or that any plotting was afoot. But Mobutu would have been scared anyway.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, July 9, the 190th day of 1969. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1816, Argentine declared its independence from Spain.

On this date: In 1776, news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence reached New York, and George Washington had the document read to his soldiers.

In 1819, the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe, was born in Spencer, Mass.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House—after serving only one year and four months of his term.

In 1940, during World War II, the Duke of Windsor was appointed governor of the Bahamas.

In 1947, the engagement of Princess Elizabeth of England to Lt. Phillip Mountbatten was announced.

In 1960, the Soviets threatened the United States with rockets if any attempt were made to oust the Castro government in Cuba.

Ten years ago: U.S. warplanes were being moved from France to Britain and West Germany after France's refusal to permit stockpiling of U.S. nuclear weapons on French soil unless they were under French control.

How many more items does the average super market have now than in 1928? According to a recent study, stores carried 867 items in 1928 compared to 7,350 in 1967 and a predicted 10,000 in 1970.

A New Jersey town, Swedesboro, has outlawed all hugging and kissing in public parks. Separate ordinances, no doubt?

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's consumer adviser, asked for a leaner hot dog than the one agreed on by the Department of Agriculture. The man at the next desk thinks she has a pretty fat chance of winning her case.

The D.A.'s proposed limit for fat in frankfurters was 33 per cent. It's a weighty subject.

JULY, 1949
20 YEARS AGO
76-year-old Fred R. Nicholas started his 46th year of duties as clerk of city council.

An aluminum canopy was installed at the county courthouse to protect the courthouse front doors from weather.

City council unanimously approved an overtime pay boost for city police and firemen from 75 cents an hour for overtime to $1.

Five fire companies from six communities worked to control a blaze which threatened the village of Clarksburg when paint thinner stored at the Clarksburg Motor Sales Co. exploded. The building was destroyed.

Dr. George W. Heffner, Circleville's oldest general practitioner, retired from active practice after 53 years. He was 78 years old.

Circleville board of education authorized the expenditure of $5,000 toward improvements in Walnut St. elementary school.

The 1950 allotment for Pickaway County wheat growers was slashed by 7,862, yet was the largest single county quota granted in the state at 55,475 acres.

Mrs. Rex Pitt of Williamsport was honored at a party before she sailed with her five-year-old daughter Anne for homeland, South Wales.

The new kiddies' wading pool at Ted Lewis Park neared completion. The pool, located in the playground portion of the park, was donated by Pickaway County Junior Red Cross.

The sea shell collection gathered by the late Dr. J. F. Bales of Circleville, highlighted a special article in the current issue of National Geographic magazine.

An attempt was made to blow up the old covered bridge over Salt Creek on the Adelphi-Laurelville road. A portion of the roof and side on the south end of the structure was blasted out.

William Reid, one of Pickaway County's most prominent public servants who had devoted his life to teaching and government, died at Berger Hospital at the age of 81.

Adelphi's lone physician, Dr. Eugene Hemmeger, died at the age of 75. He had practiced in the Adelphi-Laurelville community 54 years.

Ruth Blum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blum, Watt St., was named to the faculty of Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Texas where she would teach piano and theory.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "My accountant estimated my income last year would be $300,000 said Flip Wilson, "but I actually earned $500,000."

"Now things are looking up. If I can have two more years like that, I'm going to move out of the poverty area."

The 34-year-old Negro performer, newest top star on the comedy scene, has spent most of his life in the poverty area. His present success is a tribute to a self-determination that would be a credit to any Horatio Alger hero.

Born Clerow Wilson—"I don't know why they hung that first name on me"—Flip is one of 24 children of a Newark handyman. In his childhood he lived in three foster homes.

"I quit school at 16 because I was ashamed that I had only a dime a day to spend for lunch," he recalled recently between shows at the Americana's Royal Box.

"I was a good student, and the other kids looked up to me. But I guess I kind of looked down on myself because I was so poor."

He then spent nearly four years in the Air Force, and won the nickname of Flip because of the humorous skill with which he delivered troop information talks.

He made the great decision of his life in 1954 when he was earning $10 a week as a bellhop and part-time clerk in a San Francisco hotel. One night, when a performer failed to appear for the hotel's show, Flip volunteered to fill in for him.

"The applause I got made me decide right then what I wanted to do the rest of my life," he said. "I wanted to make people laugh."

"I learned there is a theory among great comedians that it takes 15 years to develop a rounded, stand-up comic, and I decided I would do just that."

"Since there is no school for humor, I haunted the bookstores and read everything I could on the subject. I studied the routines of all the great comedians of the past in order to help find one of my own. I stayed up nights learning to write my own material."

"I gave up everything else—my apartment, what money I had, and the security of a steady job. I gave them up irrevocably. If you have a goal and don't give up everything else to it irrevocably, you're bound to fail, because that shows you aren't sincere."

Flip polished his talent through painful years in which he hitchhiked from city to city, gave performances in night spots where he passed his hat among the audience.

He managed to achieve his 15-year goal in 12 years. An appearance on Johnny Carson's

"Tonight" show in 1966 won him national attention. Since then he has become a supper club star, a favorite guest star on major television shows. In prospect are a television special and a television series of his own.

Flip has no fears of running dry. He still prefers to write his own material. He has a $3,500 library of books on comedy and a file of 300,000 jokes.

"The main thing, however, is that I'm a pro," he said. "An amateur tries to make you laugh. A pro does make you laugh."

"I've never found my race a problem. An audience doesn't care about your color. Either you're funny or you're not."

"My greatest satisfaction in life has been that I set myself a 15-year goal—and stuck to my program. Now I just want to enjoy my work and have fun."

There'll be no more dime lunches for Clerow Wilson.

Blossoms Protected
NEW YORK (AP) — Proud but protective of his springtime blossoms, Parks Commissioner August Hecksher has published the following decree:

"See the parks where blooms are thick.

"Take a sniff but do not pick."

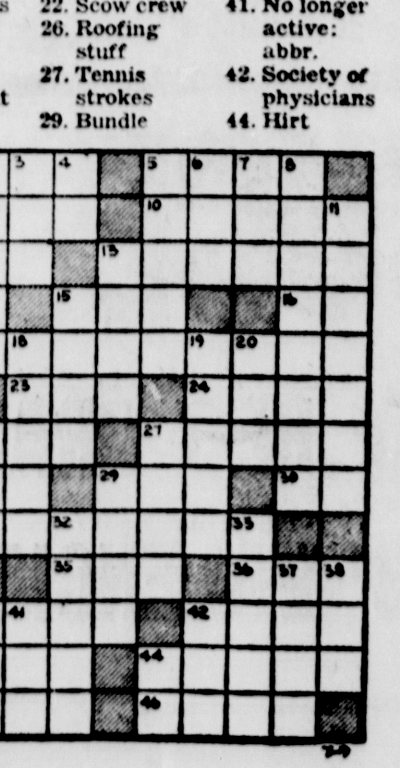

Hecksher drew inspiration from an old warning in Fort Tryon Park:

"Let no one say, and say it to your shame,

"That all was beauty here until you came."

Anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Myron Furniss on July 6.

Phones Bugged
By Underworld

BOSTON (AP) — The underworld is using stolen electronic equipment to monitor conversations of lawyers and government officials, the Boston Record American says.

The highly sophisticated equipment was stolen from Logan International Airport two years ago, the newspaper said today.

A telephone company technician discovered a monitoring device attached to the telephone of a criminal lawyer, who suspected his conversations were being bugged and asked the company to investigate, the newspaper said.

Cost Of Fireflies Doubles To Penny

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (AP) — Because demand has increased, Alan S. Antonik says, he is having to double the price he pays children for fireflies, from half a cent to a penny.

Antonik, president of Antonik Laboratories, said he needs 1.5 million fireflies this summer instead of 600,000 as in the past. Chemicals from the bugs' lighting system are used in hospital tests to detect heart attacks and muscle diseases.

LOWE'S After July 4th FREEDOM SALE

SALE BEGINS NOW! Runs Thru Sat., July 12th at 1:00 p.m. Make your way POST-HASTE to Ye Old Lowe's. Declare your Independence from a hot, hectic summer. We've got the products to set you free to enjoy your hard earned leisure hours: power tools and building products to help you get those home projects out of the way; air conditioners to cool you off; lawn furnishings for outdoor fun; color TV to entertain you indoors.

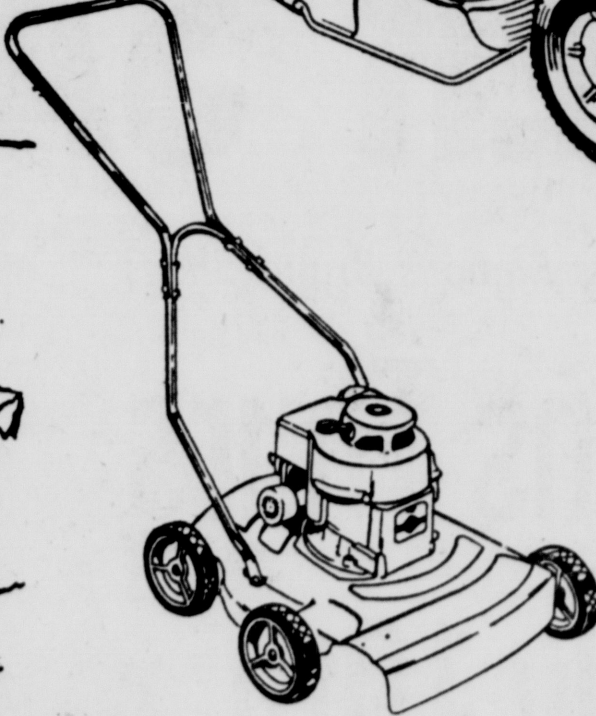

To the first 100 patrons of our establishment this week we're giving an authentic parchment look reproduction of the Declaration of Independence. Be first in your colony to get one; here are some highlights: one of the few major documents to which someone actually did sign his "John Hancock," learn how Ben and the boys zapped it to King George and his mercenaries.

LOWE'S IS OPEN FRIDAY NITES TILL 9:00 P.M.

24" 5 Horsepower
RIDING MOWER
$147⁷⁶

Here's what we mean by a Freedom Sale Special—the best selling Riding Mower in Lowe's history at its regular price of $169.97. Endorsed by Richard Petty, powered by Briggs & Stratton, it's priced to move at $147.76 July 4th only. To win the grass race at your home, beat the customer race to Lowe's July 4th.

Cancer Clinic Urges Women To Participate

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic will be in session on Monday, July 14 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Berger Hospital. At that time Pickaway County women will once again be given a chance to come in for a cancer checkup.

The clinic is the only one of its kind in Ohio because the checkups are entirely free to women of low income families and because it is staffed completely by volunteers who donate all their time and services. All of these people, the doctors, the nurses and other clinic staff do this work because they are absolutely convinced that it is a means of saving lives. For many women an annual pelvic examination, breast examination and PAP smear can truly mean the difference between life and death. When cancer of the cervix, for instance, is discovered in its earliest stages, as it is by a PAP test, it is almost entirely curable.

The examination is both quick and painless. No appointment is necessary. Transportation may be arranged by calling 474-3014 or 474-6279.

Logan Elm Club Schedules Tour

Logan Elm Garden Club will meet 11:30 p.m. Thursday at Victor's Inn. Following luncheon the club will tour Chillicothe. Members are to make and wear a corsage of flower buds.

SHARON VAN FOSSEN

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Van Fossen, Route 2, Laurelville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon, to John David Karr, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Karr, Laurelville.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Laurelville High School and is presently employed by Essex Wire Co., Lancaster.

Mr. Karr is a 1962 graduate of Laurelville High School. He served two years with the armed forces and is presently employed by the DuPont Co.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Emmett Chapel MYF Elects New Officers

Junior MYF of Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church elected new officers when they met recently at the church with 14 members present. David Rittinger was welcomed as a new member.

Mickey Hildenbrand, president, presided over the business session where plans were made to hold a swim party at Gold Cliff Park on Aug. 11, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. A picnic cookout was planned. Members plan to take their fathers to see the Columbus Jets baseball team play in the near future.

Mrs. William Hildenbrand thanked all who helped on the paper drive and extended special appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gifford who donated not only their time but the use of their truck.

Officers elected for the coming year are Cathy Valentine, president; Donna Disbennett, vice president; Debbie Hannagan, treasurer; Linda Myers, secretary, and Ronnie Easter, devotion leader. The meeting closed with refreshments served and members participating in games.

The program and discussion period was led by Mickey Hildenbrand reading "God's Word and Liars." The importance of truth and the reasons was the topic. "Seven Minds" was read by Mrs. Hildenbrand followed by a question and answer period. The meeting closed with refreshments served and members participating in games.

Attending were Debbie Hannagan, Donna Disbennett, Linda Myers, Cathy Valentine, Keith Dumm, David Rittinger, Doug Hildenbrand, Brock Bell, Gary Hall, Vicky Hall, Mickey Hildenbrand and Jess Hall.

Full Recovery Rehearsal For Apollo 11 Successful

ABOARD THE USS HORNET (AP) — Three Navy divers stood in for the Apollo 11 astronauts in the first full-scale recovery rehearsal for next week's moonshot. It went off Tuesday without a hitch.

But the skipper of the USS Hornet, charged with directing the pickup of man's first moon-landing travelers, said the responsibility is no greater "than the one we exercise every day."

Capt. Carl J. Seiberlich said, "We have a responsibility to everyone aboard as well as the astronauts."

Seiberlich expressed satisfaction with the practice recovery of the simulated lunar module and three "astronauts" in moderate seas under sunny skies about 60 miles south of Hawaii.

The carrier, the Apollo 11 prime recovery ship, is scheduled to pick up Astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins July 24 after their lunar flight.

The Hornet, which recovered an unmanned Apollo-Saturn space capsule near Wake Island in August 1966, had previously practiced the recovery in sections. This was the first time the entire recovery was rehearsed from splashdown to return of the astronauts and module to the carrier.

Another rehearsal was to be conducted today en route back to Pearl Harbor.

The carrier, which completed a tour of Vietnam a month ago, will leave again Saturday to take its position in the recovery area.

Seiberlich said weather conditions pose the biggest potential problem. But he said a partial practice Monday night was successful even though there was heavy rain and rough seas.

Clear Skies Cover Much Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clear skies stretched across most of the nation early today but showers remained scattered through parts of the Rockies, the Plains and the Gulf Coast.

Thunderstorms walloped eastern Nebraska and southern Iowa.

Drizzle, fog and low-lying clouds shrouded much of the West Coast.

A thunderstorm swept through Georgia and South Carolina, driven along on gusts of wind clocked at 60 miles per hour. Nearly an inch of rain fell in Augusta.

Temperatures were coolest in the Northeast, with readings in the 40s and 50s, and along the

Cuyahoga County Jail Break Put Down By Deputies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An attempted jail break by 114 prisoners at the Cuyahoga County Jail failed late Tuesday night without any of the prisoners escaping.

Sheriff's deputies reported that three men using knives fashioned from bed slats overpowered a guard and unlocked the fifth-floor cell doors and briefly freed 111 other prisoners.

The jail was quickly surrounded by about 35 Cleveland policemen and sheriff's deputies, some carrying shotguns.

Sheriff Ralph E. Kreiger ordered the fifth floor stormed by deputies to bring the prisoners back under control.

West Coast, where the mercury was mostly in the 50s.

All-Negro City Board In Operation

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — Mayor Charles Evers guided his fledgling administration—all-Negro except the city attorney—through its initial day of operation Tuesday and then set about fulfilling a campaign promise—removing junked cars from the streets.

Evers, first of his race elected mayor of a biracial Mississippi city since Reconstruction days, and his five-man Board of Aldermen were confronted with a lengthy and confused agenda at their opening session.

Selection of new department heads, consideration of a budget and repealing segregation ordinances stretched the meeting into several hours.

Then Evers joined with three aldermen in a tour of a shabby Negro section of this southwest Mississippi town of 1,600, pointing out many abandoned cars.

"These wrecks are real hazards," he said. "Can you imagine what would happen if a child fell in this mess or accidentally locked himself up in a trunk with no one around? This is tragic."

"The whites have neglected this area while keeping up their own. You don't see this sort of thing in their areas. We are going to change all this, though."

The new administration, as one of its first official acts, quickly repealed a two-year-old ordinance which endorsed the state's segregation laws—most of which have been overturned in court.

Evers admitted he was having difficulty enlisting whites for city jobs. White participation in the city government dropped to zero shortly after he was elected in April.

Miss Martha Wood, former legal aide, to a civil rights group and the new city attorney, was the only white employee to raise her hand during swearing in ceremonies.

"There are some whites who are bitter," a white woman said, "but I think most are just avoiding the situation. They know we have an all-Negro government and that's it."

Laughter livened the aldermanic session when the newly appointed police chief, Robert Vanderson, complained about his officers having to pick up armadillos crushed by automobiles.

Vanderson, a 36-year-old former school teacher, said his all-Negro police force of four already had received a call to collect one such casualty from a city street and he did not think it was the duty of his department.

Problems confronting the new administration include:

—Financing city projects with an already overdrawn budget.

—Hiring white city employees to fulfill a campaign promise of equal representation.

—Bringing in new industry and upgrading the economic scale of the area.

—Providing recreational facilities and better housing for the poor.

—Obtaining federal assistance on needed city improvements.

—Enforcing several planned ordinances including gun control, prohibition of sale of alcohol to minors and equal economic opportunity for blacks and whites.

Reorganized Atom Plant System Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg says the Atomic Energy Commission is considering the possibility of setting up a government-owned corporation to operate its three uranium enriching facilities, including the one near Portsmouth, Ohio.

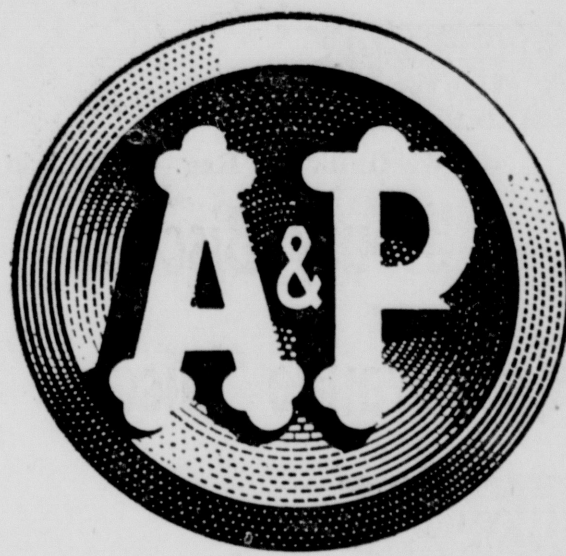

Seaborg, AEC chairman, testified Tuesday before the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee which opened hearings into the question of the future ownership and operation of facilities at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth.

The facilities, which produce enriched uranium used in nuclear power plants, now are the property of the U.S. government.

Seaborg said the AEC has concluded tentatively that the uranium enriching program should be established on a business-type basis.

But he argued against private ownership of the facilities, saying that could make it easier for other nations to acquire nuclear weapons.

Technology used in production of nuclear fuel is equally applicable to production of weapons material.

Dr. Sheppard Lashes Out At Koblentz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard said Tuesday he was placed in solitary confinement and beaten with rubber hoses by Ohio Penitentiary officials to discourage him from appealing his murder conviction, which was subsequently overturned.

Sheppard, central figure of a widely publicized case, said the state commissioner of corrections, M. C. Koblentz, ordered him to stop associating with his brothers, Richard and Steven, his lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, and his wife-to-be, Ariane.

"I naturally refused, whereupon I was chained with leg chains, hand chains, chains around the neck and I don't know where all else," Sheppard said in a statement for the Senate judiciary subcommittee investigating prison conditions. "I was beaten on four occasions. The beatings were all centered around getting rid of Bailey, my future wife and my brothers."

"I would name the people who did this but I would rather not because these men were ordered to do this by Maury Koblentz, who is perhaps the worst thing that has ever happened to Ohio. And he is still there."

"This is an utter lie," Koblentz said. "Sam Sheppard has lied in the past and he is lying now and the records will bear out that his allegations are not based on fact."

Commuters View Traffic Tie-Ups

NEW YORK (AP) — Starting in September, metropolitan area commuters will be able to view the traffic jams on the road ahead while sitting at home drinking their breakfast coffee.

New York City's municipal station, WNYC, plans to transmit live pictures of the traffic tieups from cameras mounted in police helicopters. The evening rush hour will also be televised.

The commuter service is being financed under a $75,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation and a $78,000 appropriation from the city.

LBJ Agrees To TV Reports On CBS

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has agreed to a series of interviews for CBS television reviewing his years in public office.

The first of the interviews, with Walter Cronkite, filmed at the LBJ Ranch last Saturday, will cover his role in the space program as senator, vice president and president, according to Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News.

Varicose Veins Stir Up Debate

LONDON (AP) — Should the British government do something about miniskirt wearers who have varicose veins?

A Conservative, Neil Marten of Oxfordshire, member of Parliament, told the House of Commons Monday the elastic stockings provided free by the government health service for women with varicose veins were too short for miniskirts. The health service, he said, should provide elastic tights instead.

Julian Snow, undersecretary for social services, turned down the suggestion, saying, "The size of elastic hosiery is governed by medical needs."

Capital University Gets New President
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Thomas H. Langevin of Tacoma, Wash., is the new president of Capital University.
Langevin, 47, academic vice president of Pacific Lutheran University, was named Tuesday to succeed Dr. Harold L. Yochum, who retires Aug. 31 after 23 years at the post.

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Earleene Williams, 36, Fremont, was beaten to death sometime around midnight Tuesday following an apparent argument in her home, police reported.
Her husband, Charles, was being questioned.

Government To Challenge Shared School Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration has indicated it will challenge some arrangements allowing Catholic and public school systems in several northern cities to share facilities.
The first court test may involve Waterbury, Conn., where the federal government says such an arrangement is used to deny equal educational opportunities to Negro and Puerto Rican youngsters.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, chief of the Justice Department's civil rights division, notified the Waterbury Board of Education Tuesday a lawsuit is in the works unless immediate steps are taken to correct alleged inequities.

Among them, he said, in an arrangement with the Catholic school system "that allows white students to escape the predominantly nonwhite school districts in which they reside and to attend the practically all-white parochial schools system at the expense of nonwhite students and parents."
Leonard did not specify in his letter to Board President Salvatore Terenzi how the agreement worked.

But other officials said the program involved public facilities, such as classrooms and gymnasiums, that are shared with Catholic schools.
In addition, they said a "total public bus system" provides free transportation to Catholic school pupils as well as students at public schools.

Gerald W. Jones, the civil rights division's northeastern section chief, said situations under which Catholic-public school arrangements are sued "prevail pretty much universally throughout the Northeast."
Leonard charged that in Waterbury, an industrial city of 110,000, Negro and Puerto Rican children are assigned to schools in the worst condition and with fewer special services than those to which white pupils are assigned.

Nonwhite youngsters comprise only 28 per cent of Waterbury's 13,000 public school students.

Nevertheless, Leonard said, several elementary schools are predominantly nonwhite and "district lines, bus routes, and transfer policies have been drawn so as to insure that predominantly white schools remain 'white' and predominantly nonwhite schools remain 'nonwhite.'"

Jobless Pay Boost Urged By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon urged Congress Tuesday to bring 4.8 million more workers under unemployment insurance and to extend the period of benefits during times of high unemployment.

"Over 57 million workers are protected by unemployment insurance," the President said in a message to the Senate and House. "However, almost 17 million are not covered. More than half of these are employees of state and local governments."

Nixon said the 4.8 million workers he proposes to include in the system are in real need of protection, since many of them have low wages, little job security and no prospect of severance pay if they were to be laid off.

He broke the 4.8 million figure down this way:

—1.6 million workers in firms with less than four employees.

—40,000 on large farms employing four or more workers in each of 20 weeks.

—200,000 engaged in agricultural processing.

—1.8 million working for non-profit organizations.

—600,000 employees of state hospitals and universities.

—200,000 salesmen, delivery tradesmen and others not now defined as employees.

Dangerous Man Sought In Toledo

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Toledo, Ohio, police expressed hopes Monday night that a man charged with murder in the strangulation of a Covington woman could be apprehended within a day.

"We're hot on his tail and hope for an arrest within the next 24 hours," Detective Frank Kasey said about John G. Spirko, 23, of Toledo.

Spirko, an ex-convict with the alias Mike Lambert, and his girlfriend Shirley Coughorn, 16, also of Toledo, are charged with first-degree murder in the death of Myra Ashcraft, 73, July 3. Proceedings have begun to extradite the girl to Covington.

The two were seen in Covington last Thursday when they applied for a marriage license.

Toledo police disclosed that Spirko called them Sunday and said that he would "never be taken alive" and would "shoot any cop that tries to get" him.

The girl was arrested in Toledo Saturday night on a delinquency charge.

Kennedy Claims Book Paid For By Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—A forthcoming book arguing in favor of deployment of an antiballistic missile (ABM) system was financed in part by government contracts amounting to $70,253, says Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

The book was largely written by members of the Hudson Institute of Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., Kennedy said Monday and "it appears to be financed in part by the Department of Defense."

Herman Kahn, the institute director, said none of Kennedy's statements was factual. The charge was grave, he said, adding that the book was the idea of institute people working mostly on their own time. In government the institute is well known "for being almost fanatically independent in its views."

Kennedy is an opponent of the ABM deployment proposal of the Nixon administration.

Lawyer Is Chosen
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department announced Tuesday it will recommend William W. Milligan, a Sidney, Ohio, lawyer, for appointment as U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Ohio. The nomination still must be approved by President Nixon.

Roundtown Players Pick 'Dear Friends' For Fall

The Roundtown Players have selected "Dear Friends" as their next production.

It will be presented Oct. 2, 3 and 4 in the Junior High School Auditorium. Angelo Dragonette of Columbus will be the director.

Tryouts will be held at St. Philip's Parish House Aug. 8 and Aug. 10. Jim Leckrone will serve as business manager of the play.

The production was discussed during a meeting of the Players held Monday. Tom Matesky, a new president of the organization, led the discussion.

OTHER new officers are:

Mrs. James Stambaugh, first vice president; Al Perdon, second vice president; Mrs. Jane Resler, secretary; Dick Davis, treasurer.

Mrs. Al Berger, chairman of the Reading Theater, announced that this group is offering its services to clubs for programs this next year. These programs will consist of short readings for entertainment. Mrs. Larry Blum is to be contacted for arrangements.

The program at the Players' meeting was a play-reading of the comedy, "Suppressed Desires" by Susan Glaspell. This is being prepared as a radio tape by the Reading Theater.

The next meeting will be held at St. Philip's Parish House Aug. 4. Detailed plans for the fall production will be presented.

All interested persons in the community are invited to attend and join the organization at this meeting to participate fully in the coming activities.

Vo-Ag Teachers Name New Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Odell Miller of Marysville was elected president of the Ohio Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association Tuesday during the group's state meeting here.

Other officers are Warren Reed of Convo, vice president; Jack Devitt, Ottoville, secretary; Bob Phillips, London, treasurer; and John Wilson, Archbold, chaplain.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Room 222," an ABC series that proposes to take an honest look at an integrated high school, goes before the cameras this week.

Before anyone thinks it will be a translation of the black headlines, it should be said it is a situation comedy. Or, as the creators prefer to call it, a drama told with humor.

"We're not going to do a social documentary," said Gene Reynolds, the producer at 20th Century Fox. "That's not the frame of reference. But any subject we undertake we'll do realistically."

"Our initial objective is to be entertaining. We are getting a lot of admonitions to keep it light, but we're not going to make it light if it hurts our story."

Jim Brooks, the writer-creator of "Room 222," said, "Take the story in which flu strikes the school and 50 per cent of the teachers are out. There's no reason why that can't be funny. But if the story is about the exploitation of a black athlete, it can't be funny."

Lloyd Haynes plays the black teacher whose classroom is Room 222. Denise Nicholas is the guidance counselor and his love interest. Michael Constantine is the principal and Karen Valentine is the student teacher assigned to Haynes' room.

Haynes, whose handsome face has a quick grin, is a late starter as an actor. He didn't play his first role until 1961, when he was 26 and a production manager for a company turning out television game shows.

He enrolled in the Film Industry Workshop and it wasn't long before a director spotted him and got him a role in a series pilot that didn't sell. That led to a small part in "Star Trek" and his career began to orbit.

He studied stunt work with Jock Mahoney, then took over the lab himself. "It's teaching actors how to move and fall and fight. To become aware of their bodies and how to use them better. If you have difficulty moving your body you may stumble over a set."

"Some people, for instance, don't know how to get in and out of a car," he said. "They do it every day, but when they try it in a scene they can't do it."

Haynes, who is single, has put himself on a rigorous schedule for the show. "I get up at four o'clock in the morning and learn my dialogue for a couple of hours," he said. "I work out for half an hour, have breakfast and go to work. I get home at seven o'clock and zonk right out."

He admits he is excited about his first starring role. "There's so much going on in schools today," Haynes said.

He said he hopes the role stays honest. "When I say honest, I mean that they don't make him superteacher. He'll have hangups, but they shouldn't be negative ones."

The show's approach to problems—by which a problem will be examined through its effect on a character—also appeals to Haynes. "I like a one-to-one relationship," he explained. "That makes it easier to handle than a generalized approach."

Pro And Con Of ABM Net Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the main arguments for and against the Safeguard antiballistic missile—ABM—system as presented to the Senate by majority and minority members of the Armed Services Committee:

For: "The hard truth is that by the mid-1970s, unless we continue to make appropriate decisions to threats to our Minuteman and bomber retaliatory forces, and to our Polaris (submarine) forces, the second-strike capability of a large proportion of our strategic deterrent will be in doubt."

Against: "We believe that with our Polaris fleet, our land-based ICBMs, our strategic bombers, and the thousands of additional nuclear warheads we have at sea and abroad, if we were attacked we could destroy the Soviet Union some 50 times over."

For: "It is believed that the Safeguard system will provide the Minuteman with sufficient protection to make it a credible deterrent."

Against: "Even if Safeguard works perfectly as designed, it will do practically nothing in protecting Minuteman sites."

For: "The testing and design work on both the missile, the radar components, and the computers so far have not indicated that there are insuperable technological problems confronting the Safeguard system."

Against: "There is reason to doubt that the long-range radar (PAR) and the short-range radar (MSR), parts of which have not been built yet alone tested, will operate successfully together in that almost instantaneous manner which would be necessary in case of sudden attack. There is even more reason to doubt that the computer, which has been neither built nor tested, and which is admittedly far more complicated than any computer yet attempted, will operate properly when called upon to do so."

For: "It is not believed that the procurement program proposed for the fiscal year 1970 should jeopardize (arms limitation) talks with Soviet Russia or cause an escalation of the arms race."

Against: "If we proceed with this system, the Soviet Union will respond by increasing its offensive strength so as to negate any possible advantage which might be derived from said Safeguard deployment. The result could only be a further escalation of the arms race."

Extortionists Reported Behind Store Bombing

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The owner of an east side Cleveland grocery store that was bombed with two sticks of dynamite Monday morning said he refused in the past to pay $40 a week protection money to extortionists.

Abe Stearn, 62, owner of the Manor Supermarket where $25,000 damage was done in the bombing Monday, said "I kept trying to walk away from them (the extortionists). Then, finally, one of them called me and said, 'One of these days you are going to find your business in ashes.'"

"Then the other week two men, well-dressed and wearing dark glasses, came up to me and said: 'We came for the dues.' I told them I wasn't paying any and they left."

The store had been closed after a firebombing last week, police said. They said someone jimmied the rear door of the store and planted the dynamite at the foot of the meat cooler.

3 Moon Experiments Set By Astronauts

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY Fla. (AP) — Three scientific instruments to be placed on the lunar surface by the Apollo 11 astronauts may reveal for the first time how much the moon quakes and wobbles.

The instruments could tell scientists how rapidly continents on earth are drifting apart and whether the moon's interior is molten mass or solid rock. They may also "hear" meteors striking the surface and find gas particles in radiation streaming through space from the sun.

Called EASEP for Early Apollo Scientific Experiment Package, the devices were designed to help man unlock the secrets of the origin and structure of the moon. The gas particle collector will be brought back by the astronauts. But the two other instruments will operate long after Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. leave the moon.

"The scientific return, because man is there on the moon, is significant," said John W. Small, chief of the lunar surface projects office at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

If the space agency attempted to land and deploy the same experiments on an unmanned flight, "the automatic devices for putting the equipment off, locating them very precisely and leveling them would require many, many more pounds. And probably you'd have to cut your complexity down," he observed.

Packed inside a compartment in Apollo 11's lunar module are: —A seismic station that can detect the slightest motions on or within the lunar crust.

Aldrin is to place it about 70 feet away from the L.M. After carrying it to the site, he will pull a lanyard to release spring mechanisms that open power-producing solar panels.

A solar wind composition experiment consisting of a piece of aluminum foil, one foot by three, unrolled like a window shade and held upright on a telescoping stand.

Aimed broadside toward the sun, the sail-like device is to trap particles of gases including helium, neon, argon, krypton, and xenon driven by the solar wind. Armstrong and Aldrin are to roll the foil up again and bring it back with them for analysis.

—A laser reflector, measuring about 2½ feet square, which will reflect, like a mirror, a laser beam from earth.

By measuring the time it takes for the beam to strike the reflector and bounce back to earth, scientists expect to know, within inches, exactly how far the moon is from earth.

Laser measurements from different points on earth over a long time could reveal how fast continents are drifting apart, proving or disproving theories that Africa and South America, for example, were once one big continent. The laser reflector is expected to operate for up to 10 years.

The seismic station is sensitive enough that people on earth expect to hear the footsteps of Armstrong and Aldrin as they crunch around the surface. During a test on earth, a similar seismometer in New York State monitored an Alaskan earthquake and produced data that a 200-pound seismometer, placed next to it as a standard, did not record.

Sunday Liquor Sale Opponents Give Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's a sick city that has to depend on liquor to bring people downtown, Columbus Mayor M. T. Sensenbrenner told a Senate committee Tuesday.

"Conventions do not come to any city because of liquor," Sensenbrenner said. He spoke in opposition to the local option Sunday liquor sale bill that already passed the house.

He said Ohio industry has already proved "that the man who gets drunk on Sunday doesn't show up for work on Monday — and sometimes on Tuesday."

The Rev. David Sageser of the Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church said he was unable to find in the Bible where drinking is labeled sinful. But he said there are several biblical indications that it is stupid.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Gordon E. Young Monday dismissed as "silly" a suit seeking to prohibit the song "Dixie" from being played at Jonesboro High School functions.

The suit by the Negro plaintiffs contended that playing the song at school functions violated their constitutional rights because "in a school context, it constitutes a badge of slavery." "I think the complaint is silly and it will be dismissed on account of silliness," Young said. "I can't help but feel that we have more important matters to consider."

3 Moon Experiments Set By Astronauts

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY Fla. (AP) — Three scientific instruments to be placed on the lunar surface by the Apollo 11 astronauts may reveal for the first time how much the moon quakes and wobbles.

The instruments could tell scientists how rapidly continents on earth are drifting apart and whether the moon's interior is molten mass or solid rock. They may also "hear" meteors striking the surface and find gas particles in radiation streaming through space from the sun.

Called EASEP for Early Apollo Scientific Experiment Pack age, the devices were designed to help man unlock the secrets of the origin and structure of the moon. The gas particle collector will be brought back by the astronauts. But the two other instruments will operate long after Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. leave the moon.

"The scientific return, because man is there on the moon, is significant," said John W. Small, chief of the lunar surface projects office at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

If the space agency attempted to land and deploy the same experiments on an unmanned flight, "the automatic devices for putting the equipment off, locating them very precisely and leveling them would require many, many more pounds. And probably you'd have to cut your complexity down," he observed.

Packed inside a compartment in Apollo 11's lunar module are: —A seismic station that can detect the slightest motions on or within the lunar crust.

Aldrin is to place it about 70 feet away from the L.M. After carrying it to the site, he will pull a lanyard to release spring mechanisms that open power-producing solar panels.

—A solar wind composition experiment consisting of a piece of aluminum foil, one foot by three, unrolled like a window shade and held upright on a telescoping stand.

Aimed broadside toward the sun, the sail-like device is to trap particles of gases including helium, neon, argon, krypton, and xenon driven by the solar wind. Armstrong and Aldrin are to roll the foil up again and bring it back with them for analysis.

—A laser reflector, measuring about 2½ feet square, which will reflect, like a mirror, a laser beam from earth.

By measuring the time it takes for the beam to strike the reflector and bounce back to earth, scientists expect to know, within inches, exactly how far the moon is from earth.

Laser measurements from different points on earth over a long time could reveal how fast continents are drifting apart, proving or disproving theories that Africa and South America, for example, were once one big continent. The laser reflector is expected to operate for up to 10 years.

The seismic station is sensitive enough that people on earth expect to hear the footsteps of Armstrong and Aldrin as they crunch around the surface. During a test on earth, a similar seismometer in New York State monitored an Alaskan earthquake and produced data that a 200-pound seismometer, placed next to it as a standard, did not record.

Sunday Liquor Sale Opponents Give Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's a sick city that has to depend on liquor to bring people downtown, Columbus Mayor M. T. Sensenbrenner told a Senate committee Tuesday.

"Conventions do not come to any city because of liquor," Sensenbrenner said. He spoke in opposition to the local option Sunday liquor sale bill that has already passed the house.

The Rev. David Sageser of the United Methodist Church said he was unable to find in the Bible where drinking is labeled sinful. But he said there are several biblical indications that it is stupid.

Join us for a visit to Elko, Nevada, to see the annual Basque Festival. Typical of the spectacular events is a wood-chopping contest where two contestants vie against one another with special razor-sharp axes. Contestants stand on top of the logs, making the cuts between their feet. In order to keep their balance, they do not wear shoes. Other highlights are the traditional Basque dances which vary from the ancient war dances to the famous La Hota. We also visit a sheep camp and tour Elko's night spots during the Festival.

Man-To-Moon Machines Hold Lives Of 3 Crewmen

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) These are the man-to-the-moon machines on which the lives of the three Apollo 11 astronauts depend:

COMMAND SHIP: Valued at $55 million, the Apollo 11 command ship with its main engine and equipment section attached measures 33 feet high and 13 feet in diameter. Its cone-shaped cockpit is 11 feet tall. Its hull is built primarily of stainless steel and aluminum. Control panels inside permit the crewmen to trigger engines, check for malfunctions in spacecraft subsystems, compute their flight path and communicate with earth and astronauts in the lunar module (LM) landing craft. Its main 20,500-pound-thrust engine must kick Apollo 11 into and out of moon orbit and make course corrections en route to and from earth.

LUNAR MODULE: Built at a cost of $41 million, the spidery four-legged lunar module (LM) will ferry Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. from the orbiting command ship to the moon's surface. It consists of two sections—a descent stage with legs and the braking rocket that will lower the spacemen to the moon and an ascent stage that houses the astronauts and contains the engine used to blast off from the surface back up to the command ship. Standing up-

PFC David Scarberry, Route 2, Circleville has been assigned to Fort Lewis, Washington, a U.S. Army overseas replacement station.

Scarberry received his basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and Fort Meade, Maryland.

Airman Edgar H. Martindale, son of Lawrence T. Martindale, Route 1, Williamsport, has completed basic training at right, it measures 23 feet tall.

SATURN 5 ROCKET: Measuring 363 feet-tall with the Apollo spaceship on top, each Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket costs $185 million. It is the most powerful rocket ever launched, able to hurl the 50-ton Apollo spaceship to the moon or put a 125-ton payload into earth orbit.

Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in vehicle maintenance. Airman Martindale is a 1964 graduate of Jackson High School.

Airman Robert A. Merriman, formerly of Circleville, has graduated from the course for physiological training specialists at the U.S. Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks AFB, Tex.

Airman Merriman, who learned to operate physiological equipment, including high altitude chambers, is being assigned to Offutt AFB, Neb., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil L. Merriman, is a 1967 graduate of Circleville High School. He attended Franklin University Columbus.

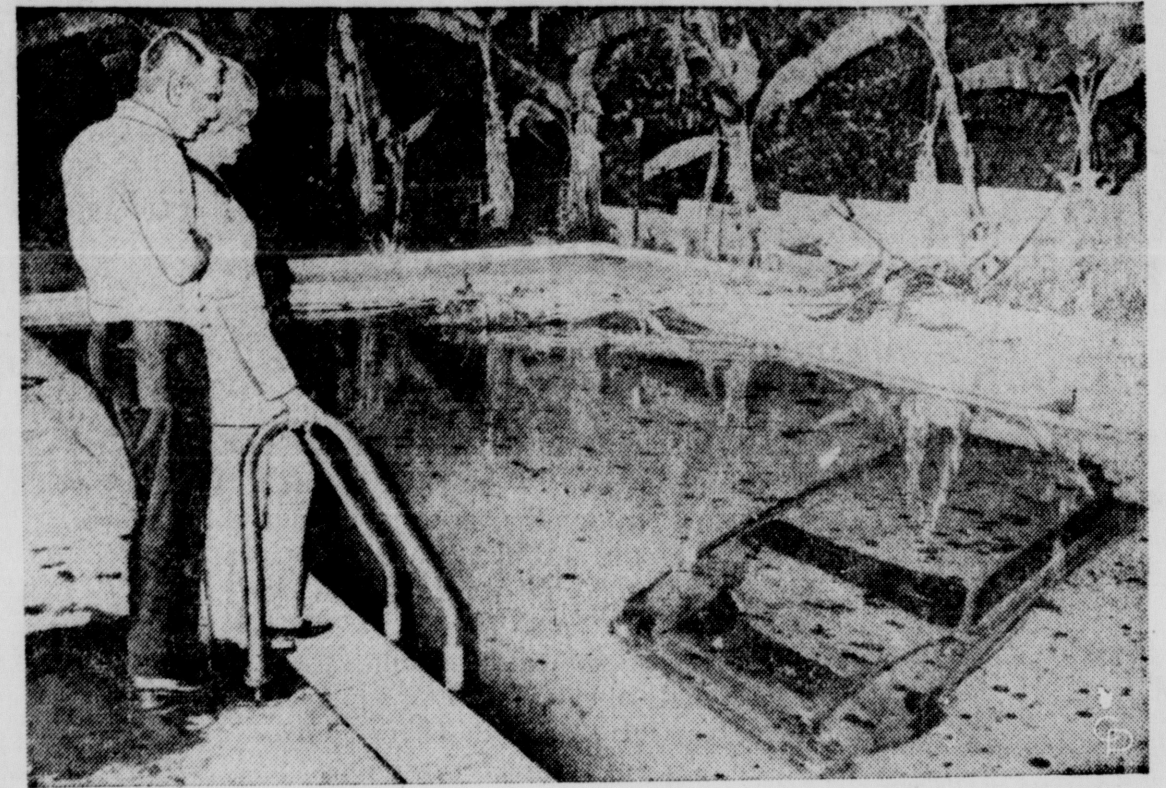

Fireman Apprentice John R.

Wills, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wills of 420 Watt St., Circleville, and Aviation Boatswain's Mate First Class Billy D. Bennett, USN, of Williamsport, returned to Alameda, Calif. aboard the nuclear powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

The carrier returned to its home port after the fourth combat tour in Vietnam. She is scheduled to leave shortly for the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, in Virginia for an extensive overhaul.

While off the coast of Vietnam she helped provide air support for U.S. and Allied ground forces.

Armstrong Describes Final Moments Before Touchdown

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — We'll have a view of the landing area from about 8,000 feet, two to three minutes before landing... we'll be continuously observing it for its suitability, namely a smooth touchdown point and absence of large craters.

That's how Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong describes the final moments of the daring descent to the moon he and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to make July 20.

Greet Contestants For Miss Ohio Title

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Several thousand people lined the streets of Sandusky Tuesday night to get their first look at the 29 contestants for this year's Miss Ohio crown.

Heading the parade, which included 70 bands and marching units, was Leslyn Anita Hipple, of Canton, the reigning queen. The Miss Ohio pageant gets underway Thursday night in the Cedar Point ballroom.

moon-bound men are concentrating on the critical and dangerous landing and takeoff in a lunar module (LM) trainer, while fellow astronaut Michael Collins works in the command ship simulator. They also planned today to rehearse the launching from Cape Kennedy.

"As we come down lower and lower," Armstrong said in an interview last week, "we'll be able to evaluate the landing site better. If required, we will alter that landing point either farther ahead or off to the left or right, or perhaps a little short of where the machine is being directed automatically."

"Then, as we come through the 500 foot level or thereabouts, we'll probably take control of the attitude manually and fly it to the precise touchdown point," the Apollo 11 commander said.

"As we reach the hover point," he continued, "we'll probably have a minute and a half or so of fuel which will permit us to go a relatively good distance, perhaps 1,000 feet if we choose. I wouldn't anticipate that we would do that. I would hope that we would generally get into the right area much earlier by changing the trajectory at a higher altitude."

"The fuel penalty for changing the landing point is much less at higher altitude," he explained. "It becomes quite significant down close to the surface."

When Armstrong and Aldrin lift off, they will rendezvous with Collins, who will orbit the moon while his companions explore below.

Dear Abby: Child 'Shut Out' By Door Locks?

DEAR ABBY: This is a rather delicate subject. I imagine there are many other married couples who have the same problem, so I hope you'll answer soon.

We live in a small house and the bedrooms are next to each other. We have an eight year old daughter who has started to wake up in the middle of the night and come into our bedroom unexpectedly. She says she feels fine, and there is nothing wrong, but she wakes up and comes into our room to say "hello."

We have told her that she must stay in her bed, but that hasn't done much good.

We want our privacy, Abby, and can't be listening half the night to know whether she is asleep or not, and we don't know how to handle this. If we suddenly put a lock on our bedroom door, she might feel "shut out" or rejected, and this is the last thing we want to do. Can you help us?

DEAR ABBY: To "HAD IT IN HOUSTON," who doesn't like to drop in on a friend and be expected to "entertain" the mutt by throwing a ball, which the mutt retrieves:

Can you think of a better way to get rid of uninvited guests who make a habit of dropping in without calling first? Actually if you just TOLD that mutt that you didn't care to play, I'm sure he'd understand and take the hint, which shows that some dogs have more sense than some people.

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours have a daughter whose engagement had been announced. Elaborate plans were being made for a big wedding.

Well, out of the blue, she ran off and eloped, so of course the big wedding is off. Now we get one of those "ANNOUNCEMENTS" letting us know that she had been married! (They didn't need to send those things, it was the talk of the town!)

My question: Do you think we are obligated to send a wedding gift?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: For the umpteenth time, a "gift" is not given in repayment for anything. If it will afford you pleasure to give a gift along with your best wishes, do so. Otherwise, don't.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Too Much Ironing," who complained about having to iron her husband's undershorts:

Dear Madam: You really have high-class problems. I wonder if you know how lucky you are? I would gladly iron 7, 10, or 20 pair of shorts every week if my husband would leave my panties alone.

When I first found out that my husband was snitching my panties to wear under his shorts I was bewildered and sick. How long he had been doing this I didn't know, but I'm sure it must have been most of the 11 years we had been married because when I look back, a lot of things make sense now that didn't some time ago.

My first reaction was to pack my bags and leave him, but there were three good reasons, why I stayed. They are our three adorable children who deserve a father and mother, and as long as God gives me strength I'll keep my home together, until our children are on their own.

I am not a martyr nor do I enjoy being married to one I consider less than a man. Love and respect for him have flown out the window, and my marriage has become a "job" and nothing more.

So, "Too Much Ironing," I say, "Keep that iron hot, lady, and don't complain."

"OLD AT 35"

DEAR OLD: Since this problem is so close to you, I am amazed that you have not 75 Per Cent Of Marriages Bad?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sex is No. 2 in a man's priorities for selecting a mate but No. 6 on the woman's list and that's the reason 75 per cent of American marriages are a bust, according to an eminent psychologist.

"When a man gazes into a woman's eyes with what they think is love and devotion they are not seeing the same thing," Dr. Clifford Rose Adams, professor emeritus of Penn State University, added in a report based on 30 years of research.

"Odds on any marriage being a success are shorter than those of hitting the jackpot on a pin-ball machine in Las Vegas."

Adams, 66, a consultant for Encyclopaedia Britannica and numerous scientific publications, presented his latest findings to the Identity Research Institute here after studying 6,000 couples.

"Since the sex revolution following World War II sexual satisfaction has been much more important to the male than to the female," the professor said. "Companionship is the first subconscious factor influencing the male in mate selection. Then in order, come sex, love-affection, sentiment in a single category, home and family, a helpmate (one giving, encouragement) and, lastly, security.

"For the woman the first things she seeks are love, affection and sentiment. She has to feel loved and wanted. The second is security, then companionship, home and family, community acceptance and, sixth, sex."

"So you see man and woman do not see eye-to-eye. How can marriages, under these circumstances, last?"

Adams said government statistics showing that 28 per cent of all marriages end in divorce are misleading.

"If you take in annulments and desertions, which are not included, the figure would be nearer 40 per cent. Add to this what we call the morbidity marriage where a man and woman may continue living with each other just for appearances or convenience while actually hating each other and you find that only about 25 per cent of marriages are really happy."

"The other 75 per cent are a bust."

The doctor, whose research included interviews with college undergraduates as far back as 1939, said the biggest divorce year is the third year after marriage. Half of all divorces are obtained within seven years.

He said too many marriages are founded on sexual compatibility—or "body heat," as he put it—and this is disastrous.

Red Ships Near U.S.

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Canadian surveillance of three Soviet destroyers sailing 200 miles off Nova Scotia ended late Monday, an armed forces spokesman announced.

He said they had moved out of the area of Canadian responsibility. Pentagon spokesmen in Washington said they didn't know whether the United States would take over surveillance of the southbound destroyers.

The Soviet vessels are believed headed for Cuba. The official Soviet news agency Tass announced Monday a seven-ship naval squadron will visit Cuba July 20-27 "to help further strengthen friendly relations between the Soviet and Cuban peoples."

Western observers believe this is intended as a slap at Washington to retaliate against President Nixon's planned visit to Communist Romania in August.

If the Soviet destroyers maintain their southbound course, it would put them off the southeast U.S. coast during the July 16 Apollo 11 moon shot.

Legion, Coke Win Major Tilts; Legion Leads Loop

American Legion stormed into first place in the Little League major circuit with a 5-2 win over the Herald Hawks and Coca-Cola scored an extra-inning win over Bingman Drugs, 8-7, Tuesday.

American Legion and the Herald were knotted for the top lead with 4 wins and one loss going into the game.

Legion pitcher Rick Ramsey stopped the Hawks with four hits, enroute to the win. Herald managed two runs in the fifth inning.

Wade Cook started for the Herald and lasted four innings. He was tagged for four runs. Phil Roll relieved him in the fifth and was touched for one run. They allowed 14 hits.

JEFF Hawks paced the Legion at the plate with a double and two singles. Brent McPherson collected a single and a double. The remainder of the Legion's attack was singles.

Joe Funk tagged a triple and a single for the Herald. Wade Cook added two singles. Bingman's scored six runs in the bottom of the second inning to take the lead. Coke fought back with five in the third and two in the fifth to take a 7-6 advantage.

In the bottom of the sixth, with two out and a runner on second, Brent Mancini blooped a single into left field to knot the score 7-7.

Kevin Christy drove in Coke's winning run in the top of the seventh with a single.

Don Conrad started for Coke, but was lifted after the six-run uprising. He was replaced by Perry Hoskins, who finished the game.

CONRAD fanned six and walked seven, while Hoskins walked two and fanned 10.

Terry Brown started for Bingmans, walking four and striking out nine. Mancini replaced him and allowed the winning run, walking one and fanning two.

Brad Spangler led Coke at the plate with three hits.

Savings Bank, Wards Win In LL Minors

Ward's Market topped Rotary 13-3 to keep their perfect record intact and the Savings Bank swamped Circleville Oil 7-0 in Little League minor action Tuesday night.

Ward's stretched its league-leading record to 6-0, while Rotary is 0-6.

Tim Davis started on the mound for the winners and allowed all three runs on five hits. He walked six and fanned seven. Tom Ritchie replaced him and blanked Rotary with two walks and two strikeouts.

Randy Dean clubbed a homerun for Ward's. Bob Baranick had a triple and two singles, and Bill Mogan, Rock Dean, Conrad and Ritchie tagged doubles.

BRAD Skinner suffered the loss for Rotary, allowing 7 hits. He walked four batters and fanned seven.

Dave Miller paced Rotary at the plate with a double and two singles.

Biff Bungamer pitched his second straight one-hitter and his second shut-out in three starts for the Savings Bank.

He walked one batter and fanned 14.

Jamie Hickey cracked a double and a single to pace Savings Bank at the plate.

Byron Edgington was the Circleville Oil losing pitcher, allowing six hits, while walking seven and fanning seven.

Moore collected the lone Oil hit, a double.

VFW Tops Bank; Leads Pony League

VFW increased their Pony League lead to two games with an 11-4 win over Savings Bank Tuesday night.

Thirston and John Ankrum combined on the mound for the win. They allowed six hits.

England tagged a triple and Ankrum added a double to pace the 16-hit VFW offensive.

Dodgers Take Twinbill From Atlanta 5-3, 4-3

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers ache all over but the Atlanta Braves are the ones feeling the pain.

Led by super-cripple Manny Mota, who banged out eight hits, one short of the major league record for most hits in a doubleheader, the Dodgers swept Atlanta 5-3 and 4-3 Tuesday night and took over first place in the National League West from the Braves by one-half game.

After rapping seven singles and a double in 10 at-bats, driving in three runs, scoring twice and stealing a base, Mota limped into the clubhouse, where his left elbow and left knee were packed in ice.

Mota broke the elbow playing winter ball in the Dominican Republic and injured the knee sliding a few days ago. The elbow probably will require post-season surgery, but the injuries didn't stop the 5-foot 11, 168-pound outfielder from raising his average since coming to the Dodgers from Montreal to .412 and his over-all mark to .366.

Elsewhere, the New York Mets rallied to nip Chicago 4-3 and trimmed the Cubs' lead in the East to four games, Cincinnati whipped San Diego 8-2, San Francisco turned back Houston 7-4, St. Louis downed Philadelphia 6-3 and Pittsburgh walked Montreal 8-2.

Mota's big night began with an infield hit in the first inning of the opener, after Hank Aaron had put the Braves ahead 1-0 with his 23rd home run and 533rd of his career. Willie Davis singled Mota to third and they both scored when Orlando Cepeda threw wildly to second trying to trap Davis in a rundown.

In the third inning, Mota singled and was out trying for a double. In the fourth, he doubled a run home and was out trying for third. In the sixth he got a harmless single and he fled out in the eighth.

Mota singled in the first inning of the second game and stole second, but was stranded. He wasted a single in the third and grounded out in the sixth, one of 14 straight batters retired by Ron Reed.

But Maury Wills broke the spell in the eighth with a two-out triple and Mota singled him in, cutting Atlanta's lead to 2-1. Mota then scored the tying run on singles by Davis and Len Gabrielson.

The Braves went ahead 3-2 in the ninth on Rico Carty's pinch double, but Tom Haller, who homered in the first game, started another rally with a leadoff double in the Dodgers' half. A single by Bill Sudakis knotted the score again and, after a single by Willie Crawford, the Braves elected to walk Wills intentionally and pitch to Mota. He promptly singled, scoring Sudakis with the winning run.

Davis, who was hit on the wrist by a pitch Sunday and had trouble squeezing the bat, collected three singles and a triple: Haller, who has two swollen ankles after being hit by foul balls, had a single, double and home run, and Wes Parker, still bothered by a persistent hamstring pull, singled in a first-game run.

"Sometimes when you think you're really crippled and don't have a chance, that's when you get hot," said manager Walter Alston. "It's nice to be back in first place."

It was Atlanta's sixth defeat in eight games, all coming in doubleheaders last Friday, Sunday and Tuesday night.

Cleon Jones belted a game-tying two-run double and scored the winning run on Ed Kranepool's two-out bloop single as the amazing Mets rallied for three runs in the ninth to trip the Cubs and Ferguson Jenkins.

Until the fateful last inning, Jenkins had allowed only one hit, Kranepool's fifth-inning homer. Ernie Banks and Jim Hickman connected for Chicago.

Tony Cloninger hurled a five-hitter, retiring the side in order in seven of the nine innings, and Tommy Helms and Alex Johnson laced two-run singles as Cincinnati overpowered San Diego. The Reds trail Los Angeles by three games.

The Giants, 3½ games back, had dropped seven in a row to Houston. But they rallied for five runs in the eighth to whip the Astros and Larry Dierker. Ken Henderson's single tied the score 3-3, newly acquired John Stephenson singled home the lead run and singles by Tito Fuentes and Ron Hunt, each of whom doubled in a run in the seventh, produced three more. Jim Wynn homered twice for the losers.

Bob Gibson, staked to five early runs, including Phil Gagliano's first homer, survived a shaky start for his 11th victory and hurled St. Louis past Philadelphia, although he surrendered eight hits and seven walks. The Cards have won four straight, their longest streak of the year.

Steve Blass fired a three-hitter and Roberto Clemente belted three hits, including a two-run homer, as Pittsburgh routed Montreal and snapped a seven-game losing streak.

Kirk Drives Win At Scioto Downs

Wendell Kirk, driving C.B. Duane, won the seventh race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night.

The horse nosed out Diamond Lil and Silver's Rose to pace the mile in 2:07.2 C.B. Duane paid $3.80, $3.20 and $2.40.

Jim Arledge placed second in the first and second races. He drove Tally Time in the first race, paying $6.40 and $4.20.

In the second race, he placed with Marti Dee, paying $7.80 and $4.20.

Miss Magnolia, owned by Harry Margulis, Ashville, and driven by James Ferguson, captured third place in the fifth race.

Cleo Dawson Fires 48 For Low Gross

Cleo Dawson fired a 48 to take low gross honors at the Upper Lansdowne Golf Club's Ladies Day Tuesday.

A bang tournament was held so that beginners might have a chance to win prizes. Winners were Betty Neff and Bev Currence, first prize, Sally Lewis and Pat Wolfe, second prize and Audrey Turner and Laquita Wagner, third prize.

A carry-in luncheon was held after the match.

FISH 'N' TIPS

By BILL TRUE, World's Professional Casting Champ

Unquestionably the most popular fresh-water fish is the bass.

The largemouth, found most everywhere, likes to lie along a deep sloping shore that has lots of brush.

The smallmouth is rated by anglers as the fightingest fish there is, pound for pound. Found mostly north of the Mason-Dixon line, the smallmouth likes fast clean water below rapids or dams, around rocky shores or gravel bars.

Most any lure will work for bass but the retrieve must be slow and erratic.

Bass go for something that moves rather than what it looks like. And the best moves are the actions of minnows. After your surface lure hits the water let it lay a moment, as though something were stunned, then jerk it lightly, as though this something is "struggling" and finally retrieve slowly but in a jerky manner.

Bass like their water temperature to be in the 70's. Above 85 or below 60, they seldom strike.

They prefer to stay on the bottom and strike at surfaced objects. However, a popular lure has been the plastic worm, worked by dragging along the bottom.

Cloudy days and shady spots seem to be best for bass fishing. Finally, look for water ripples rather than glassy calm water. Especially along a shoreline with foliage.

PPG, CAP, Hummel & Plum Win Mosquito League Tilts

PPG sneaked past Barnhill's at Atwater School in the Mosquito League 13-10, for their fourth win in as many starts. Scott Willoughby pitched a no-hitter for Circle Auto Parts in their 15-1 win over Hap's and Hummel and Plum shut out K of C, 9-0.

PPG is now out in front of the championship race, but Mac's and Block's are both undefeated with 3-0 records and play tonight at South Court.

Mark Linton started on the mound for PPG whiffing three and walking ten before he was relieved by Glen McFarland who finished the job. McFarland walked 12 and struck out five in the game. He was also four for four at the plate hitting four singles.

Mark Ranek was the starting hurler for Barnhill's. He whiffed four and walked five before Steve Sabine was called in to help him out. The relief pitcher walked six and fanned five. He hit the only extra base hit for the losers with a double.

Kiwanis Tops DuPont, 3-2

Kiwanis stretched their Babe Ruth league lead to two games with a tight 3-2 win over DuPont Tuesday night.

Dave Webb collected the win for Kiwanis. He allowed four hits, while walking two batters and fanning six.

Doyle Kiser was the DuPont losing pitcher, permitting four hits. He walked three batters and struck out seven.

Kiwanis scored two runs in the fourth inning to take an early lead. DuPont fought back with single tallies in the fifth and sixth frames before Kiwanis won with a run in the seventh.

Don Valentine, Rod Kasler, Chris Long and Webb managed singles for the winners.

Gregg Roll tagged a double and Dan DeLong and Kiser had singles for DuPont.

Kiwanis is 4-1 in the league and DuPont is 1-4.

Brudzinski, Fraser Pace PCC Men's Loop

Steve Brudzinski and Gordon Fraser fired 38's Tuesday to win low gross honors at the Pickaway Country Club's Men's League.

Low net was captured by Bob Downey and R. W. Roy with 32.

Team 2 paced the action with 16 points. Members of the team are Chuck Smith, Larry McFadden, Wayne Smith, George Hamrick, Don Hinton, Bob Downey and Larry Priest.

Team 9 is still leading the league with 153½ points. Team 8 follows with 144½ points and team 5 is third with 143 points.

In the Ladies League set for Thursday morning, pro Barry Fisher will hold a clinic at 9 a.m.

help him out. The relief pitcher walked six and fanned five. He hit the only extra base hit for the losers with a double.

MARC Albright and Terry Clifford hit grand slam homers in the first inning to give Circle Auto Parts a 13-0 lead. Both boys also hit doubles in the tilt.

CAP scored two runs in the second inning, but never scored again.

Scott Willoughby fanned 17 out of 18 outs in his first try on the mound, walking five in a no-hitter.

Hap's scored their only run in the third inning on walks.

CAP is 2-2 for the season and in second place in the Mosquito League. They meet Hummel and Plum tonight.

Cline was the whole story for Hummel and Plum in their first victory of the year as he went four for four at the plate with two doubles and pitched a two hitter.

Hummel and Plum's shut-out win came on four hits and one error for nine markers. They scored two in the first, one in the fourth, and six in the fifth.

JOE Mogan hit a double for the losers, their only extra base hit.

Toren Bensenhaver went the route on the mound for K of C whiffing 14 and allowing 16 walks.

Marshall 3-Hits

Amanda In Pony League Contest

Logan Elm's Doug Marshall brought his record to 3-0 in the Tri County Pony League as he handcuffed Amanda 8-4 Tuesday night on a three hitter.

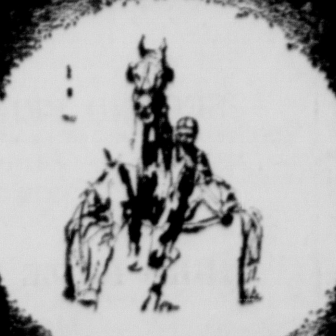

The win gives Logan Elm a perfect 5-0 mark for the season.

Gary Francis tagged a homerun for the winners and Kenny Kurtz and Mark Justus added doubles to pace the 10-hit Logan Elm attack.

Bill Mathis of the New York Jets has scored 33 touchdowns in nine American Football League seasons.

In Memoriam

Ralph Edgar Betz was born October 16, 1910, in Washington
Township, Pickaway County, the son of Reuben Edward and Florence M.
Pontious. He departed this life at the age of 58 years, 8 months and 4 days, June 20, 1969. He was married to Mary Lee Frazier on August 24, 1932, who survives. Of this marriage one son, David Eugene Betz, was born. He has two grandchildren, Debra Sue and Larry Lee Betz. He was a faithful and active member of the Sunday School and Church of the Heidelberg United Church of Christ in Stouffville.
During his lifetime, he was a farmer, also, he has been associated with the Washington Township
School for many years, as a Bus
Driver, a School Board Member,
Clerk and Custodian of the School at the time of his death. He was a present member of the Pickaway
County Board of Education.
Until the shadow from the earth is cast,
Until he gathers in his sheaves at last,
Until the twilight bloom is over-past—
Good-night, Good-night,
Only "Good-Night" beloved, not farewell!
A little while and all his saints shall dwell
In hallowed union indivisible Goodnight,
Until we meet again before His throne
Clothed in the spotless robes He gives his own
Until we know ever as we are known
Good-night, beloved, Good-night,
Mrs. Ralph Betz

In Memoriam

Ralph Edgar Betz was born October 16, 1910, in Washington
Township, Pickaway County, the son
of Reuben Edward and Florence M.
Pontious. He departed this life at the age of 38 years, 8 months and 4 days, June 20, 1969. He was married to Mary Lee Frazier on August 24, 1932, who survives. Of this marriage one son, David Eugene Betz, was born. He has two grandchildren, Debra Sue and Larry
Lee Betz. He was a faithful and active member of the Sunday School and Church of the Heidelberg United Church of Christ in Stoutsville.
During his lifetime, he was a farmer, also, he has been associated with the Washington Township
School for many years, as a Bus
Driver, a School Board Member,
Clerk and Custodian of the School at the time of his death. He was a present member of the Pickaway
County Board of Education.
Until the shadow from the earth is cast,
Until he gathers in his sheaves at past—
Good-night, Good-night.
Only "Good-Night" beloved, not Forever!
A little while and all his saints
shall dwell
In hallowed union indivisible Goodnight.
Until we meet again before His throne
Clothed in the spotless robes He gives his own
Until we know ever we are known
Good-night, beloved, Good-night.
Mrs. Ralph Betz

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives, friends and neighbors for cards and also for the beautiful floral offerings at the time of the loss of our husband and father. A special thanks to Dr. Moore and Dr. Anderson, the nurses, staff of Berger Hospital, Rev. Ray Bethel,
Mary Ellen Meyer and the Defen-baugh Funeral Home for their kind and efficient services.

Bobby Tolan Going Great; Proves Big Boost To Reds

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The second place hitter in a lineup isn't expected to hit 30 homers, score 120 runs, drive in 120 and average .325. But, at the rate he's going, Bobby Tolan will do that for Cincinnati this season.

As the Reds approach the halfway point in their season, their fleet 23-year-old center-fielder has 15 homers, has scored 61 runs and has driven in 60 in his first year with Cincinnati.

It must make the St. Louis

Cardinals sorry they traded Tolan and reliever Wayne Granger to the Reds last winter for veteran outfielder Vada Pinson.

Tolan admits he was wary about how Cincinnati fans would accept him. Pinson had been a Redleg star for many years. But Tolan's apprehension vanished his first time at bat this year. He hit a home run off the Dodgers' Don Drysdale, before a standing-room-only throng at Crosley Field.

Columbus Golfers In Front In Ohio Amateur Tourney

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — It looked like Columbus Day—at least on the scoreboard—after Tuesday's opening round of the 63rd annual Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament.

Capital City golfers ran one-two, and three more Columbusites were among the first 15 in the standings.

Leading the way into today's second round was Rick Jones of Columbus Brookside, who shot a sizzling three-under-par 69 on the partially inundated Sylvania Country Club course. He carded a 36-33 with three birdies on the back nine.

One shot back was veteran Dan Carmichael with 35-35-70. The 49-year-old Columbus architect won the state crown in 1960 and twice was runnerup when this event was conducted at match instead of medal play.

Dick Guardiola, a scratch player from Cleveland - Shaker Heights, was alone in third place with a one-under-par 71.

Matching par 72 were Fritz Schmidt of Columbus, last year's runnerup; Bob Bourne of Oberlin, Garv Artz of Columbus and Stu Francis of Madison.

Peter Thomson Set For British Open

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Peter Thomson, the only living man to win the British Open five times, conceded today that the American challenge for the 1969 title is so deep and so tough that any one of a dozen could win it.

But the 39 year-old Australian refused to admit that he was what the bookies said, a 20-1 outsider.

"If I get the breaks and the inspiration, I'll manage," he said.

Set Round Of 16

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top seeded Torscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., reached the round of 16 in the National Junior Clay Court Tennis Championships Tuesday by defeating Tim Noonan, Springfield, Ohio, 7-5, 6-3.

Frank Howard To Be Walker Against Tribe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland Manager Alvin Dark believes he has figured out a way to stop the home run hitting of Frank Howard: Put the huge Washington outfielder first baseman on base with a walk.

"I'm tired of that guy getting his shots against us," said Dark after the Indians defeated the Senators 6-5 Tuesday night. "If I got a base open, I'm going to walk him or do something."

Howard, last year's home run champion with 44, has hit 32 this season. Seven have come off Cleveland pitching.

He failed to get a hit in his only official time at bat Tuesday night but drove in a run with a sacrifice fly, twice intentionally by the Indians.

Mel Coleman Signs With Cincy Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mel Coleman, 6-foot-7 forward from Stout State University of Wisconsin, signed Tuesday with the Cincinnati Royals.

He was the sixth college draft choice of the National Basketball Association club.

Stout, a native Cleveland, averaged 21 points last season. He never played high school basketball.

Alex Johnson drove in two runs with two singles Tommy Helms hit a two run single and righthander Tony Cloninger, 6 11 pitched a five-hitter here Tuesday night to give Cincinnati its fourth straight victory by a score of 8-2.

The Reds have won their last seven meetings with the Padres and that has helped them move within three games of first-place Los Angeles in the four-way battle for the National League's West Division lead.

"All Cincinnati needs to win it is just a little pitching—they're going to score four, five or six runs a game," says San Diego Manager Preston Gomez. "Atlanta has Hank Aaron and Cepeda—two real threats. But the Braves aren't as deep on hitting as the Reds. No one in this league is."

Shorty Stevens Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Shorty Stevens took the lead at the half-mile pole and hung on for a one-length victory Tuesday night in the $1,600 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs.

Driven by Bob Seabrook, Shorty Stevens paid $6, $3 and $2.40 while Ardor Hanover returned $2.80 and $2.40. Hoke Creed delivered $3.40.

The 24 daily double combination of Summer Time and Poor Lady paid $17.20 and the 2-5 quinella brought $27.60. A crowd of 7,655 wagered $272,902.

Ashville News Report

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Morrison and Jay July 4 were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greishamer of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Greishamer, Bobby and Richard Jay of Bellbrook, Mrs. Ben Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fullen.

Members of the 1935 graduating class of the Ashville-Harrison High School held their annual reunion Saturday evening, July 5 at the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wassmuth (Amanda Wallen) near Fox.

Following the carry-in dinner a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Everett Peters read the minutes of the reunion held last year. Notes were read from classmates Mrs. Charles Nissley (Charlotte Rhoades) of Springfield and Fred Bowen of Canego Park, California.

Mrs. Wassmuth is in charge of plans for the reunion next year which will be held at 6:30 p.m. on July 4, 1970 at the home of Miss Pauline Reese of South Bloomfield with Marguerite Hoover Brokaw as assisting hostess.

The remainder of the evening was spent reminiscing and the men attending enjoyed pitching horseshoes.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyer (Virginia Dunnick), Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young (Roseanna Hedges) Mr. and Mrs. Nolo Gulick, Mrs. Everett Peters (Francelle Runke) all of Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery (Esther Ann Reid) of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miles (Isabel Graham) of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Calahan (Marguerite Nance) of Grove City, Mrs. Marguerite Hoover Brokaw of Lawrence, Indiana, Mrs. Hudson Duff and Mr. Ray MacConoughy of Brooklyn, New York, Mrs. Robert Nelson (Maxine Canter) of San Ramon, California and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carley of Ironton, Mo. Carley was a former classmate, and Mr. and Mrs. Wassmuth were the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keck, Heidi and Karen of Columbus were dinner guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schiff, Mike and David.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine and Jerry on July 4 were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sabine, Mike and Steve, Tom Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Darst, Robbie and Brenda, Mr. and Mrs. Vernis Burgett, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Richard and Alesha, Mrs. Marty Wippel, Jeff and Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young and Becky.

Afternoon and evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. James Duntion, Falls Church, Virginia and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bastian of Lancaster.

Mrs. Mary Duffy and Mr. Ray MacConoughy of Brooklyn, New York visited last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Hudson.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this past week: July 2 took Frank Addins to Doctors Hospital, Columbus; July 6 took Nancy Gray to Berger Hospital in Circleville following a car accident.

Any adults or students working in the Teays Valley food booth at the Pickaway County Fair must have a TB check-up. The tests will be taken at the Teays Valley High School on July 15 at 7:30 p.m. The readings will be made on July 17.

The Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club met Monday evening at the High School. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Dale Schiff. Main topic of business for the meeting was the operation of the food booth at the County Fair. It was noted that all persons working in the booth must have a TB test.

Those present also agreed to operate a booth at the State Tractor Pulling Contest which will be held at the Pickaway County Fair Grounds on August 23 and 24.

The club will purchase three blazers for new coaches who will be joining the Teays Valley School in the fall.

Jim Denman was present and showed slides of an orphanage in Korea. Jim has recently finished a year of duty in Korea with the Air National Guard. His group sponsored the orphanage and the Booster Club had sent a case of soap to be used there to help control and combat skin diseases of the children.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for August 4.

A Griffith reunion and basket dinner at the Country Home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Roof, Circleville, honored Mr. Sheldon Lee Roof, home from serving four years with the U.S. Navy. Roof is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon D. Roof of South Bloomfield.

Guests were from several Ohio cities including Columbus, Springfield, Lancaster, Chillicothe, South Bloomfield, Canal Winchester, Amanda and South Charleston.

This gathering represented the families of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Griffith of Amanda.

Kingston Plane Mishap Victim In Good Condition

According to a Chillicothe Hospital authority, Janet Lyon, 20, of Route 2, Kingston, is in good condition following surgery on her hand. It was reported that the hand had been amputated Sunday evening when it was struck by an airplane propeller.

The hospital advised that Miss Lyon's hand was partially amputated. Surgery was performed to suture the amputated part. It is too soon to report on the success of the operation.

Miss Lyon alighted from a plane at Ross County Airport while the engine was still running and the propeller caught her hand, according to Raymond Davis of Kingston, operator of the aircraft.

County Reimbursed For Court Costs

Ohio's 88 counties were paid $1,204,537 as reimbursement for criminal court costs during fiscal 1969, up $113,146 over the previous year, it was announced today by State Auditor Roger Cloud.

Total payments to Pickaway County were $6,393. These payments, Cloud said, represented all costs of prosecution of indigent defendants convicted of felonies. He pointed out that under the law the state is obligated to pay such costs, including counsel fees and transportation costs to the three state penal institutions.

Fishing Dispute Talks Are Slated At Month's End

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The United States will meet with Peru, Ecuador and Chile July 30 in an effort to solve a Pacific fishing dispute that has created serious diplomatic rifts.

Secretary-General Alejandro Deustua of the Peruvian Foreign Ministry announced Tuesday night the three South American nations had agreed to a U.S. invitation for the talks in Buenos Aires.

The announcement confirmed earlier unofficial reports that discussions would begin soon after Washington agreed to lift its ban on arms sales to Peru and Ecuador. The ban was lifted Thursday.

The choice of the site for the talks represented a further U.S. concession. U.S. sources had indicated they would prefer a neutral site, perhaps Colombia, rather than Argentina, which claims the same 200-mile territorial ocean limit that is at the center of the fishing rights dispute.

Logan Elm Board Employs 3 Elementary Teachers

The Logan Elm Board of Education during its regular session Monday in the office of the clerk at Logan Elm High School employed three teachers to teach in the elementary schools.

Miss Martha Climer will teach vocal and instrumental music at Washington School. Mrs. Cheryl Jordan will teach seventh and eighth grade science at Saltcreek Township School. Mrs. Susan Spangler will teach fifth grade at Pickaway Township School. Mrs. Charles Rittinger was employed to act as study hall monitor at the high school.

John Henn, Superintendent, reported to the board one vacancy in elementary vocal and instrumental music exists at Pickaway School. All other teaching positions as of this date are filled. Applications for custodian at Washington School will be accepted until August 1.

Thelma Trimmer, clerk, presented the monthly bills and gave a financial report. The board authorized an advance draw of $46,000 to meet the July payroll.

A detailed county school calendar was reapproved with September 2 as the first day of school and June 2 as the last day for students. Teacher meetings October 17 and 24. Holidays include Thanksgiving November 27-28, Christmas vacation begins at end of school day on December 19 and school reopens January 5, Easter vacation March 27-30.

Columbia Gas Company will furnish Washington Township School with natural gas prior to opening of school in September. The total cost of converting the present heating facilities to gas will amount to $3,480. The savings on fuel over a period of years will pay for the initial conversion cost.

The Circleville Oil Company was selected to provide repair service for school bus tires and to supply needed new tires.

In other board action approval was granted to proceed with roof repairs (Sparks Roofing was low bid), purchase 45 classroom desks for Pickaway School, purchase one I.B.M. typewriter for high school, purchase one adding machine for Saltcreek.

Ralph Soumik, architect, reviewed preliminary drawings for the proposed new seventh and eighth grade building. The Board of Education then passed a resolution of necessity and instructed the clerk to request the auditor to calculate the average annual millage necessary to retire the bonds.

The proposed bond issue would result in a total indebtedness, which includes the Washington Addition, Saltcreek Addition and High School, of $2,077,000. This amount represents less than six per cent of assessed valuation and will not require approval from Superintendent of Public Instruction.

At the next regular meeting August 4 bids for gasoline, fuel oil and oil will be accepted.

Board members Arthur Laist and Roger Hobbie are to attend an information program as representatives of the Logan Elm Board of Education at Battelle Institute on July 30, 1969.

NO TROUBLE HERE — Marlyn Mason accepts her salary from chautauqua boss Elvis Presley, but from the look in her eyes it's obvious she'd be glad to work for him for nothing. It's the new romantic team of "The Trouble With Girls." Sheree North and Edward Andrews co-star, with Vincent Price and Joyce Van Patten in the film set against a background of a traveling tent show in the Roaring '20s. The film is currently playing at the Starlight Cruise-In.
